

LUTHERANS GATHER

In Local Church Tuesday and Wednesday of This Week in

32nd ANNUAL CONVENTION

Sunday School Workers from All Corners of the County Discuss Interesting Topics.

Anyone looking into the faces of the large gathering of Lutherans at Trinity Lutheran Church, Bedford, would have thought it was a gathering of the county forces of all denominations.

From all corners of the county Lutherans flocked to Bedford October 14 and 15, gathered in the beautiful large auditorium of the Bedford Lutheran Church.

The minister of the church, Rev. H. B. Wiedand, conducted the opening services. This was followed by the formal service of welcome by E. E. Colvin, Esq., president of the association, who, in a spicy, humorous and witty address, brought greetings to the large delegation present.

Rev. F. J. Matter of Everett responded to the welcome in a brief and splendid manner.

After appointment of committees by the chairman an anthem was rendered by the chor of the church. This was followed by the discussion of the topic, "The Obligation of the Layman to the Sunday School." Baltzer Snyder of Clearville Charge, opened this topic, with thoughts in harmony with the subject. He was followed by Lloyd Beegle of Everett, who, from practical experience, gave many splendid thoughts. Ira M. Long of Bedford Lutheran Church, followed with thoughts looking to the preparation of the lesson for the school. Rev. Mr. Streamer of Saxton closed with a stirring address, in which he gave trip-hammer strokes as he unfolded the obligations of a layman to the Sunday School. He said, among many other things, that the Sunday School is a man's job; that many laymen are but babes in Christ, only creeping, while they should be men six feet tall. A man's business is to know God and in the Sunday School is where the Book is studied. The obligation of the layman to the activities of the church is not negative, but positive. Every man of the church must stand for the church, school and home in the present crisis in this county and against the saloon, the devil and hell. He said the present status of the Associate Judgeship is not a matter of politics; no man can honestly get back of any party but must be either for God, home and church or for the saloon and ruin. We plead for laymen and their interest in our Sunday School.

Wednesday forenoon opened most beautifully. The lecture room was filled with eager Sunday School workers. After routine business matters, the topic, "The Sunday School and its Relation to the New Movements," was discussed. Rev. H. W. Bender of Schellsburg took the line of the Layman's Missionary Movements, with all its accessories. He enthusiastically pleaded for the duplex envelopes, every member canvass, missionary committee, weekly offerings.

"The Sunday School in its Relation to the Special Days of the Church" was discussed by Hon. J. T. Matt of Everett, H. E. Mason of Osterburg, Mr. Zimmers and Rev. J. J. Minemier, in which these men emphasized the educational sympathetic effect of observance of Home Mission, Foreign Mission, Church Extension days in our schools. Habit is formed for good as well as for evil, why not train the young to love and give others for others. The financial and monetary feature is always controlled by education and habit formed.

Wednesday Afternoon This part of the program was given over to the women of the church. Mrs. Bender read a most excellent paper on "Missions and the Sunday School." The contention of this paper was the giving of interesting mission work from a practical experience.

Miss Lockwood read a bright, helpful paper on "Who is a Good Primary Teacher?" A good, safe, common sense method of a simple naturalness expressing itself in interest in childhood, participating in the joys and sorrows of the child.

Wednesday Evening this splendid convention. The topic this splendid convention. The topic before the people of this county at the present is the vital subject, shall the licensed saloon be returned to the discredit of this country. This subject, "Temperance and the Sunday School," brought to the convention the live issue. It was listened to with great interest.

The speakers on this part of the program were Rev. J. J. Minemier, who emphasized the relationship of the Sunday School to the Christian virtues, prominent among which is Temperance. He voiced the sentiment that no Christian man could be in harmony with the fruits of the Spirit and be antagonistic to the great cause of temperance. Rev. F. J. Matter of Everett gave a strong presentation of the same subject. The address was clustered about a unique illustration in which the saloon was the ticket office where transportation was purchased for the city of ruin on the Rapid Transit road to destruction. He gave a place to the government receiving revenue from the licensing of the traffic. It was a strong, unique address.

"The Obligation of the Church" (Continued on Fifth Page.)

ORGANIZE CHAPTER

Of Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Fort Bedford Chapter No. 4, of the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, was organized last week in the parlor of Mr. A. I. Lyon with thirteen charter members, one each for the thirteen original states. The charter members are William E. Beam, D. C. Cessna, H. B. Cessna, Howard Cessna, S. A. Cessna, Dr. Americus Enfield, Dr. W. F. Enfield, J. Reed Irvine, J. D. James, A. I. Lyon, J. C. Russell, Henry F. Shoemaker and Abram Weisel.

The offices selected are: President, Augustus Inloes Lyon; First Vice President, Dr. Americus Enfield; Second Vice President, S. Albert Cessna; Secretary, J. Reed Irvine; Treasurer, William E. Beam; Registrar, Abram Weisel; Historian, Howard Cessna.

Fort Bedford Chapter is fortunate in its location, for here in Bedford County is one of the richest fields of history data pertaining to the early history of our country.

From this country went out three companies of soldiers who made records for themselves and their country in the War of the Revolution. The descendants of these men, as well as of any other man who fought in the Revolutionary War either as a soldier, a seaman or who was a civil officer or recognized patriot, in the Revolutionary War, are eligible to membership in the Society.

The Society is non-sectarian, non-secret, non-partisan and has no other obligation or object in view other than what is purely patriotic and social. The members are united by a bond of patriotic and fraternal sentiment. The object of the Society is to perpetuate the memory of the men, who, by their services or sacrifices during the War of the American Revolution, achieved the American Independence; to unite and promote fellowship among their descendants; to inspire them and the community at large with a more profound reverence for the principles of the government founded by our forefathers; to encourage historical research in relation to the American Revolution; to acquire and preserve the records of the individual services of the patriots of the War, as well as documents, relics and landmarks; to mark the scenes of the Revolution by appropriate memorials; to celebrate the anniversaries of the prominent events of the War; to foster true patriotism; to maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, and carry out the purposes expressed in the Preamble of the Constitution of our Country and the injunctions of Washington in his farewell address to the American people.

In addition to the above, it shall be the purpose of the local chapter to establish a museum where all historic data and relics can be safely kept and displayed for the benefit of the public.

The Chapter will be glad to assist any one desiring to join, in the search for their lineal records. Any information will be cheerfully given by the secretary.

Many Hunters' Licenses Issued

County Treasurer John Fletcher reports the hunter's license business brisk in his office. For the past several weeks the Treasurer and his deputy have been kept questioning applicants for licenses, and transferring the names into the big record book which shows the sex, age, height and the color of the hair and eyes of each applicant. As the necessary questions are asked many interesting facts are noted. Among these, it is probable that Bedford County will have one of the oldest hunters, who is Abram Stuckey of Everett, he being 84 years of age. Also one of the tallest hunters, Baltzer Fletcher of Clearville, who is six feet and 6 1/2 inches in height. Four women of the county have taken out licenses.

Up to Tuesday 2,000 licenses were issued, and it is likely that by the end of the season the 3,000 mark will be reached, as the Treasurer has a great many applications on file which he could not issue on account of running out of licenses and tags. The department at Harrisburg has promised to furnish these within the next few days.

Joseph Barclay

Joseph Barclay, a veteran of the Civil War, died at his home on Dry Ridge on Monday, October 6, aged 79 years, ten months and five days. He is survived by his aged wife, one son and a daughter, R. D. Barclay of Hyndman, and Mrs. Charles Corley of Mann's Choice, Rt. 1; ten grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

The funeral services were conducted in Trinity Reformed Church, Dry Ridge, Wednesday morning, October 8, by Rev. Flegal, pastor of the M. E. Church, of which he was a member. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Death of a Child

Margaret Lawrence, aged seven years, daughter of Albert and Mary Lawrence, died at their home in Altoona Tuesday evening of diphtheria. She was a member of the Salvation Army. The funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon in Altoona. Her parents were former Bedford residents.

Marriage Licenses

Clarence Lloyd Foor and Myrtle Elizabeth Croyle, of Cypher. Oscar K. Beach and Iva Virginia Holsinger, of New Enterprise. Clark E. Miller of Cambria County and Allene Wolfe of Fishertown. William H. Mendenwald of Smithville, N. J., and Orma R. Dodson of Bedford.

PERSONAL NOTES

Arrivals and Departures of Residents and Visitors.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

The Column Everybody Reads—Chat About Your Friends and Neighbors—Here and There.

Mr. and Mrs. George Points are visiting friends at Washington, D. C. Mrs. T. M. Gephart and Mrs. Jane M. Kerr spent Wednesday in Altoona.

Mrs. E. W. Groby of New York City is visiting home folks.

Mr. C. C. Irwin is on a visit to friends at Yeoman, Ind.

Mrs. D. C. Stunkard of Chattanooga, Tenn., is visiting home folks at Rainsburg.

Miss Edith Claar returned home Wednesday night from a week's visit among relatives at Pittsburgh.

Mr. Harry Hartley of York is the guest of his father, Mr. Harrison Hartley, East Pitt Street.

Mrs. Harvey Grazer of Johnstown is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Wy Boor.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Dibert have returned to their home at Imletstown from an extended Western trip.

G. W. Blackburn, Esq., of New Paris transacted business in Bedford on Tuesday.

Dr. Hugh Barclay of Hood River, Ore., is visiting his brothers and sisters here.

Capt. Josiah Hissong of Point spent Tuesday with Bedford relatives.

Mrs. Joseph Penrose of Fishertown and Miss Lulu Drenning of Cumberland Valley were recent callers at The Gazette office.

Messrs. Lloyd T. Griffith of Osterburg and John H. Williams of Schellsburg spent a short time at our office while in town on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Arnold, of Oakmont, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Arnold, West Penn Street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Robison left Wednesday morning on a trip to Wilmington, Del., Philadelphia and New York.

Mr. R. C. Galbraith of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Todd, South Juliana Street.

Rev. and Mrs. Rice, of Stroudsburg, are visiting their daughters, Mrs. W. J. Beckley and Mrs. S. H. Gump.

Miss Lorraine Pomeroy, who is a student at Juniata College, Huntingdon, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents in Bedford Township.

Mr. Fred C. Pate returned home yesterday from Bristol, Tenn., his former home, after a ten days' visit among friends there.

Mr. James McMullin of Washington, D. C., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. McMullin, South Richard Street.

Miss Edna Fulton, a teacher in the Bedford public schools, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home in Saxton.

Mr. Walter S. Arnold left on Wednesday for Palm Beach, Fla., where he will be employed during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Corlie H. Smith left yesterday for New York. Mr. Smith will return home in a few days and Mrs. Smith will visit her parents at that place for some time.

Mr. John T. Gephart, a former Bedford boy, and a civil engineer in the employ of the State Highway Department, Harrisburg, is here for a few days on a hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Z. Griffith, of Culver, Ore., returned to their Western home on Monday, after spending three months with relatives and friends in Bedford and St. Clairsville.

Messrs. D. B. Pencill, Spencer McLaughlin, Ray Prosser, Vincent Straub and Charles Nagler, Jr., left Tuesday morning in Mr. Pencill's auto for the Hagerstown Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Cuppett and Messrs. C. D. Brode, William F. Faupel and Clarence M. Cuppett went to Hagerstown this week to attend the Fair.

Mr. E. M. Smith and family, of Rainsburg, and Mrs. D. W. Lee of near Bedford are attending the Hagerstown Fair this week. They made the trip in Mr. Smith's automobile.

Mr. M. P. Heckerman, who spent Sunday with home folks, has started southwest and will be gone some time. We doubt if any other one man in Bedford County travels half as much as Mr. Heckerman.

Messrs. C. V. Bowers and Elmer Keeney and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, of Johnstown, and Miss Evaline Bates of Elyria, O., spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Bowers, West Pitt Street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Metzger and Mrs. S. S. Metzger, accompanied by Mrs. C. L. Bretz of Cumberland, left Wednesday morning for Hagerstown, Md., and other Southern points, making the trip in their automobile.

Mr. Ross Lysinger made a business, pleasure and social trip to Easton, Pa., and Philadelphia last week. While in Philadelphia Ross saw the Athletics wallop the Giants, and in the excitement had his straw hat torn to shreds.

Mr. G. E. Tener of Sewickley, brother of Governor John K. Tener, accompanied by Mrs. Tener and the Misses Tener, were guests at the Corlie House Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. J. V. Kellinger of Philadelphia is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. C. Lessig, East Penn Street. She is on her way home from a five weeks' visit with her sons, E. W. and Howard N. Kellinger, of Pittsburgh.

(Continued on Eighth Page)

DULL-DAVIDSON

Popular Young Couple Married Wednesday Morning.

Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Dull, East Pitt Street, and in the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties, John R. Dull and Miss Josephine Davidson were united in marriage by Rev. D. H. Dittmar, of Hyndman, an uncle of the groom. Jeweler J. Floyd Murdock and Mrs. P. W. A. Middleton, a cousin of the bride, were the attendants.

The bride wore a beautiful traveling suit, and immediately after the ceremony, in order to avoid a number of their many friends, who had arranged to give them a shower of rice, old shoes, etc., left in an auto for Cessna, to take the 8:57 train for Pittsburgh, where they will spend a short time with friends. However, their friends, not to be outdone, took the train at Bedford and by the time it reached Cessna, it was plastered with "Just Married," etc., cards from one end to the other.

The groom is one of Bedford's popular young men, conducting a drug store on Juliana Street. The bride for many years has been one of the efficient clerks in Mrs. Ella Gilchrist's millinery store. Both have many friends, who along with The Gazette, wish them God-speed and prosperity on their journey through life.

Ballinger-Shires

Miss Cecilia Forney Shires and Mr. T. Dudley Ballinger will be married this evening at Mansfield, O., at the home of the bride's mother. The bride is a sensible, lovely girl. She is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Anna Kiser Shires and the late James E. Shires, who was Treasurer of Bedford County 1879-1881. William Kiser, the bride's grandfather, was Bedford's first Republican postmaster.

The groom is a young man of intelligence and skill. He is a bacteriologist at Princeton University. Mr. and Mrs. Ballinger will reside at Princeton, N. J.

Among the many beautiful and useful presents received by the bride, was a Homestead mirror made in Bedford. At the top of this quaint mirror was a painted panel picture of the old Kiser Homestead on East Pitt Street. In this old home, Mr. and Mrs. William Kiser, the bride's maternal grandparents, lived and died. The bride's mother was born and married in this old home, and the bride was born there. That was a beautiful, useful and appropriate wedding gift to Cecilia from Aunt Florence.

Garber-Dively

The home of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Garver, of Mann's Choice, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Sunday, October 5, when Miss Hettie B. Dively of Claysburg became the bride of Emory C. Garber of Roaring Spring. The bride was attired in a handsome gown of blue messaline. After the ceremony, a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

Those who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dively, of Claysburg; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lehman and son, of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. David Garver and son, of Sulphur Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Struckman, of Mann's Choice.

Wagner-Moore

Monday evening, at the Bedford Lutheran parsonage, Howard B. Wagner of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Bertha M. Moore of this place were united in marriage by Rev. H. E. Wiedand, the bride's pastor. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moore of Bedford Township and for some time has been the accommodating assistant to Jeweler J. Floyd Murdock. The groom is a tool-maker by occupation and is employed at Detroit, at which place the young couple will make their home in the near future.

Medenwald-Dodson

Wednesday evening at the Trinity Lutheran parsonage, Rev. H. E. Wiedand united in marriage William H. Medenwald of Wisconsin and Miss Orma Dodson, daughter of Sheriff and Mrs. Grant Dodson, of this place. The groom is a former student of the Telegraphy School of Bedford, and is now employed as a telegraph operator at Smithville, N. J. The Gazette extends congratulations.

George H. Dibert

George Henry Dibert died at his home in Pleasant Valley, Bedford Township, early Wednesday morning, October 15, aged 41 years. He was a son of Jacob and Margaret Dibert, and was born in Bedford Township in April 1872. His wife, who was Miss Mary Koonitz, and one son, Chester, aged eight years, survive; also his parents and two brothers: Emanuel H. of Pittsburgh and Elmer W. of Bedford Township.

The funeral services will be conducted this (Friday) morning at Pleasant Hill Reformed Church, Imletstown, of which he was a member, by the pastor, Rev. E. A. G. Hermann. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Mr. Dibert was a member of Bedford Lodge, I. O. O. F. M. W. of A., I. O. R. M. and L. O. O. M. He was of a retiring disposition; just in all his dealings and was held in high esteem by all.

Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz

Mrs. Elizabeth Koontz died on October 2 at Roaring Spring, from a complication of diseases, aged 63 years, four months and 16 days. Rufus Koontz of Hopewell and Mrs. Annie Diehl of Bedford are two of the five children surviving her.

MENTIONED IN BRIEF

Town Talk and Neighborhood Notes Tersely Told

MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

Gleaned From Various Sources—Little Points Picked Up By Vigilant Reporters.

A baby girl arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Weisel, Richard Street, on Sunday.

Rev. F. W. McGuire of Saxton will deliver the address at a Sunday School Rally at Hepler's Bethel on Sunday, October 19.

Miss Catherine Williams of Everett has been appointed one of the temporary clerks in the Division of Medical Inspection at Harrisburg.

John Lessig of South Bedford Street was taken to the Western Maryland Hospital, Cumberland, yesterday morning, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Remember next Thursday night, October 23, the first number of the B. H. S. Alumni Star Course will be given in Assembly Hall. Everett Kemp will be the entertainer. Secure season tickets now.

Marriage licenses were issued in Hollidaysburg this week to John Lloyd Ebersole of New Enterprise and Olive L. McGregor of Altoona, and Irvin Fluke of Hopewell Township and Effie G. Dilling of Martinsburg.

The Walnut Grove Campmeeting Association will meet in the Bethel at Walnut Grove Tuesday, October 21. At this time bids will be received for all privileges and contracts received for all work to be done for camp of 1914.

Shannon Pepple and Marguerite E. Brown, of Everett, and Conda Allen Glingerman of Purcell and Carrie Leo Browning of Ebensburg were granted marriage licenses in Cumberland this week.

Thursday afternoon Walter Kegg of Imletstown purchased the old frame house located on East Pitt Street, from Frank W. Jordan, Sr., for $90. Mr. Kegg will remove the building and use the lumber to erect a dwelling at Imletstown.

Next Wednesday evening Everett Lodge, No. 524, Free and Accepted Masons, will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the constitution of the lodge and the event will be an important one in Masonic circles.

The grand officers of the grand lodge of the state will be present as well as other Masonic dignitaries. A banquet will follow the evening's meeting.

Imperial Concert Trio

An evening of music and mirth is in store for those attending the entertainment at Assembly Hall next Tuesday evening, October 21, at 8 o'clock.

"The Imperial Concert Trio" has been engaged by the Loyal Temperance Legion for the evening which bespeaks a crowded house, for Rev. Dorsey Miller and wife and Rev. Carl Drake are well known to some of our citizens as pleasing entertainers.

Tickets may be secured of solicitors and at the door. Adults, 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

Gideon Meeting

The Gideons, an organization composed of Christian commercial traveling men, will hold their annual convention in Johnstown on Saturday and Sunday, October 18 and 19, and representatives from all over the state are expected to attend the sessions.

Of the members prominently mentioned two are Bedford residents: John W. Gailey, president, and Edgar R. Raymer.

Mrs. Jacob Walter

Mrs. Jacob Walter died at the home of her son near Cessna, October 9, at the advanced age of 82 years, eight months and 12 days. Her husband preceded her to the spirit-world ten years ago. She is survived by two sons and seven daughters, namely: L. S. Walter of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. D. L. Keyser of Johnstown; Mrs. J. L. Kaston of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Jacob Kaar, of Princeton, Ill.; Job Walter of Cessna; Mrs. Daniel Crissman of Keytesville, Mo.; Mrs. Albert Rinninger of Osterburg; Mrs. Georgia E. Fickett of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Ira Park Amick of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Walter, from girlhood, was a consistent member of Messiah Lutheran Church at which place funeral services were held Saturday morning, and interment was made in the graveyard adjoining the church.

Dr. J. F. Dively

Dr. J. F. Dively, for many years one of Pittston's most prominent physicians, died at the home of his son Harry, at that place on Sunday, Oct. 5, aged 62 years, eight months and 23 days. He was born in Bedford January 8, 1851, and was a son of Jacob and Dorothy Dively. His boyhood days were spent here, where he received the preliminary steps in the education which made him a most successful physician.

Besides his wife and one son, one sister and six brothers survive: Mrs. Ella Imbler and Adam G. Dively, of Bedford; J. Herman and Albert C. of Bedford Township; R. M. of Grand Rapids, Mich.; C. W. of Cincinnati, O.; and F. S. of Syracuse, Neb.

The funeral services were held on Wednesday, October 8, in Pittston, and were conducted by Revs. L. E. Van Hoesen and C. M. Conway. Interment was made in the Pittston Cemetery.

RALLY DAY SERVICES

Interesting Program Rendered in M. E. Church Sunday.

The Rally Day services held in the Sunday School room of the Methodist Church last Sunday morning were largely attended and the program, as noted below, was well rendered by those taking part.

Doxology; Prayer; 1st Psalm in concert; Song, "Jesus Shall Reign"; Study of S. S. Lesson; Song, Beginners and Primaries; Teacher Training Graduation: The Bible, Its History, Elsie Lesh; Bible Institutions, Emily Shires. Song, "The Ninety and Nine"; The Teacher, May Willoughby; The Pupil, Th. S. S. Vesta Brightbill; Song, "The Harvest Time is Here"; Recitation, Elizabeth Thompson; Recitation, Ruth Naus; Song, "There's a Wilderness in God's Mercy"; Address, The S. S. Board, and the Presentation of Diplomas, Rev. G. W. Faus; Collection; Song, "All Hail Emanuel"; Report of Secretary; Song, "The Way of the Cross Leads Home"; Benediction.

Everett Defeats Bedford

At Northside Park last Saturday afternoon the Everett High School football team defeated the Bedford High School boys by the score of 13 to 0. Our boys put up a good fight, but lost through lack of practice. The visiting team played a star, clean game. Wompler was the star of the visitors, making long runs for touchdowns. Pierson of the Bedford team, also played a fine game, by breaking through the opponents line and getting eleven tackles. The lineup of the teams was as follows:

Everett Positions Bedford
Wampus.... Left End.... Eicholtz
Pettigrew.... Left Tackle.... Knight
Giboney.... Left Guard.... Pierson
Van Horn.... Center.... Rohm
Howard.... Right Guard.... Booty
Richards.... Right Tackle.... Hughes
R. Bowen.... Right End.... Leasure
Oler.... Quarter Back.... Metzger
E. Bowen.... Left Half Back.... Russell
Wompler Right Half Back Middleton
Eschelman.... Full Back.... Leader

A Badly Afflicted Family

Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock Mrs. Henry May died at her home west of Bedford, just beyond the Fair Grounds. For some months this has been a seriously afflicted family. Early in June, Frederick May, the only son, a young man of twenty years, was seized with a severe attack of appendicitis, and taken to the Western Maryland Hospital for an operation. After his return to his home, and while still convalescent, the mother was stricken with typhoid fever. Within two weeks from that time the son was also stricken with the fever, and that he might have the best of care, his physician sent him to the City Hospital, Altoona, where he is still in detention.

The funeral service of Mrs. May was held at the same Thursday afternoon, being conducted by her pastor, Rev. G. W. Faus, of the Methodist Church. To the husband and son in this hour of affliction is given the sympathy of the community.

Thought Man's Cap Was Squirrel

The first hunting accident of the season in this section occurred near Wolfburg, Bedford Township, Wednesday, the victim being Harry M. Diehl, about 26 years old. While hunting squirrels, he sat upon a log to rest; two other hunters approaching mistook his cap for a gray squirrel and one of them fire, a quantity of No. 5 shot entering the upper part of his body and five cutting his face badly. He was hurried to this place where Dr. Wilmot Ayres rendered medical aid, and the young man was taken to his home at Wolfburg, where he resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Diehl.

Harry Crawley

Harry Crawley, colored, died in Pittsburgh on Thursday of last week, aged 31 years. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crawley, who, with three brothers and two sisters, Frank of Pittsburgh, Christ of New York, William, Mrs. Ida Uckard and Katie, at home, survive.

The body was brought to his parents' home here on Saturday, where the funeral services were conducted on Sunday, October 12, by Rev. S. T. Whiten, assisted by Rev. J. E. Disharoon. Interment was made in Mount Ross Cemetery.

Arrested for Violating Game Law

William Richey and Lawrence College, of East Providence, were before Justice J. Reed Irvine last Friday, charged with interfering with an officer and resisting arrest, and for having a rabbit in their possession during the closed season. The information was brought by Robert Drenning, a deputy game protector. The defendants were found guilty and were each sentenced to pay a fine of $100. The act of assembly specifically states that the fine cannot be reduced or remitted. An appeal was taken from the Justice's decision and both Richey and College gave bail for trial at court.

Special Service Next Sunday Night

We, the undersigned, rejoice that the office of Associate Judge is now a non-partisan office and that the candidates for this office come before the people upon a platform of principle and not one of politics. And since the principle involved is one that touches every home, we shall speak from our pulpits upon the moral issues of this campaign next Sunday evening, October 19, at 7:30 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

H. E. Wiedand,
C. W. Faus,
J. Albert Eyer.

SEEING AMERICA

Thirty-Third of a Series of Interesting Articles by

J. KIMBER GRIMM

State of Colorado—Manitou and the Garden of the Gods—Climb of Pike's Peak.

In the thirty-second article, mention was made of the refined and cultivated community about Colorado Springs. Even though in the belt known to easterners as The West, there was nothing "wild and woolly," conceivable, and no factories. Mansions and vine-clad cottages lined its streets inhabited by about 30,000 people. Like Los Angeles, it was a tourist city ready to accommodate visitors and entertain them courteously. Five thousand nine hundred and ninety-two feet is a favorable altitude for climate and transportation, these inducements making it easy to add ten thousand transients to the permanent population. It is said that the great wealth preeminent in the homes of so many beautiful mansions, may be traced to Cripple Creek gold fields some distance beyond the city.

The morning following our arrival, the nooks of interest were planned for, Manitou being the first, a town of 1,500 at an elevation of 6,300 feet and lying at the junction of three clefts in the rocky hills. In justice to the sulphur, soda and iron springs, ten in all, that were regarded as physical benefactors by the Indians, they named the place "The Great Spirit," or Manitou, the deity of the Red Man. The soda water of which we drank was somewhat similar to that of the Shasta Springs.

A few hours later we brought the Spruce Tree Cliff Ruins to view. Cliff Canyon, in which these are located, is supposed to be an exact counterpart of the many canons of the Mesa Verde. These ruins of the Cliff Dwellers, now an extinct race, are designed to show the natural abode of those Indians, but however naturally architectural skill has replaced them, there is a something in the surrounding atmosphere that savors of commercialism which robs the ruins of their true meaning. The Petrified Forests of Arizona were the handiwork of Nature untouched and undefined by man; Laguna was a real product of the Indian ingenuity; both of these places lately visited, produced a charm, a bewitching influence, but for some reason that charm was missing here, beautiful as it was, and interesting to many hundreds of tourists as it may have been.

The Garden of the Gods, one of the many gardens and parks celebrated for grotesque forms and shapes of rock produced either by nature's great upheavals, or erosion by the elements, was vividly held in memory since reading John L. Stoddard's account of the same, during high school days. Here again was the worshipping grounds of the Indians, a mighty cathedral of 900 acres, dotted with fantastic forms of rock, to him the images of their divinities, and not without its spires and doorway, the latter vertically inclined layers of rock 330 feet in height, ajar, through which a glimpse was afforded of the peak familiar to every tourist. One's imagination tingled with delight at the sight of Mother Grundy and the Washerwoman. The Seal and Rocky Baggage Room, Mushrooms of rocky texture, growing upon the backs of red sandstone Turtles, the Hanging Rock and Balanced Rock all stood obedient to their Dutch Captain. Pharaoh's Mummy capped the scene with age. The Three Graces recalled Greek Mythology. Twin Walruses, a Beehive, Sleeping Lamb, Bear and Seal were the subjects for Punch & Judy's zoological garden. The red-haired Queen of the Garden stood near the Scotchman, and the Merry Widow and a Tamoshanter bid defiance and boasted of not having been worn by other than the wind and rain. Other weird forms with variable names lay in the background. Seven miles had been covered almost unaware of time or distance. A rock lay to the left of which I was apprised by way of the question, "Within how many inches of the top do you think you can reach?" I was confident of arms length sufficient to reach the top, and hurriedly made the attempt. The tips of my fingers were within about two feet of that top, to my surprise, and very appropriately did the name apply—Deception Rock. The afternoon was well nigh spent. A last glance at the Kissing Camels on the summit of the Entrance rocks, and the Inclined Indian Woman stationed lower on the same, closed the unnatural area from view as we passed through the Gateway more than 6,400 feet above the sea.

Numerous inducements tempted us to visit Glen Eyre and Crystal Park yet that day, but recollection of the trial of endurance to which we would be subjected that night, sent us to lodging quarters in Colorado Springs.

by the time the sun had set. Having enjoyed a hearty supper and a few hours rest, dressed in proper apparel, we both started at 10 o'clock that night, on our Climb of Pike's Peak.

To start the narrative without an effort at presenting a mental grasp of the topography of the State of Colorado, would be narrowing the concept of the reader to too vague and critical an opinion of what such a climb really means, what it teaches, and what may be learned enroute. By those unacquainted and somewhat indifferent toward mountain scaling, the same appeals as a mere foolhardy expedition. Those people frequently forget the universal psychological law that man enjoys most for what he works, or negatively, those things are appreciated least which one receives without an effort.

Like California, Colorado has five life zones, all the zones any part of the U. S. may have. (California may have six due to Death Valley below sea level.) Pennsylvania probably has no more than one. The great altitudes of the former necessary to provide all these belts of fauna and flora, increases its interest to the students of natural history and to the lovers of cherished alpine rugged scenery; but it lessens the possibilities of agriculture and railroad engineering. While Colorado is two and one-third times larger than the State of Pennsylvania, its forty-eight peaks more than 13,000 feet in elevation, eighteen passes (through mountain ranges) more than 9,000 feet in height (save one, Poncha, 8,945) and fourteen lakes all higher than seven thousand feet above the sea, clearly explain why it sustains only 5,500 miles of railroad to the latter state's supply of 11,400. The state is a princely domain of peaks, ranges, passes, lakes which defies the science of engineering, yet nevertheless time may make this the world's Playground for summer seasons, as enterprise continues to drill through its rocky walls and lay its paths to snowy summits. In the far away future Texas may cease to boast the largest railroad mileage (14,500 in 1911) of any state in the Union, and Illinois drop from second to third.

The narrower latitude and the absence of low hot areas of great humidity or aridity, hinder the comparatively rich fauna and flora of such states as Texas and California. The plains of the eastern slope, the Rocky Mountain system traversing the center and the ruggedness of the western area, gives to this state three general topographical regions extending north and south, in contrast to the zones referred to existing in successive horizontal altitudes. The eastern region extending over one-third of the whole area, to the city of Denver, is rather evenly surfaced, inclining gently upward from 3,000 feet at its eastern boundary. Since the Upper Sonora or Austral zone includes all territory in the state up to approximately 6,600 feet of altitude, adding to all of this eastern region, formerly stated to have included about one-third of the whole, that of the western region within the given altitude, the first zone would aggregate territory nearly half (50,000 square miles) of the entire state. For this reason, the Austral or Sonoran Zone is of the greatest importance, especially from an agricultural viewpoint. For a detailed characterization of this as well as other zones, reference is made to the work of Merritt Cary. We give the faintest idea of what these zones possess. Among the mammals of the first zone are: Black-tailed jack rabbit, long-eared bats, antelope, prairie dogs, badger and long-tailed weasel. Of the many birds, readers will recognize the burrowing owl, grasshopper sparrow, catbird, brown thrasher, mockingbird, bobwhite and the meadowlark. Among the many plants are: Cottonwood, willow, chokeberry, wild plum and sumac. (For a more complete account, the Col. State Agricultural College is suggested, or Merritt Cary). Rattlesnakes, blue racers and lizards are the most common reptiles.

The foothill zone of Colorado, the second in order, is called Transition, and extends upward from the first to an altitude of 8,400 feet. It covers about 25,000 square miles or one-fourth of the area of the state. It is by no means uniform in width, as is the layer of a cake, because of the many plateaus, intervening desert valleys and difference in the steepness of slope incline. Only about six species of mammals appear to be restricted to it, two squirrels, three gophers and a bat. Skunk and moun-

HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR USE PARISIAN SAGE

If your hair is too dry, brittle, dull, thin, or if the scalp burns and itches, immediately begin the use of Parisian Sage. The first application removes the dandruff, cools and invigorates the scalp, and increases the beauty of the hair by making it soft—wavy—abundant.

Parisian Sage supplies hair needs. It is delicately perfumed—not sticky or greasy. Surely try a 50c bottle. W. Jordan, Jr. 17 Oct. 21 Adv.

HYOMEI SOOTHES, PURIFIES, HEALS CATARRHILLS

When you have that choked and stuffed up feeling in the morning, crusts in the nose, raising of mucus, droppings in the throat and offensive breath, you are affected with catarrh. Immediate steps should be taken to stop the disease or it will become chronic and serious.

By all means use Hyomei. Money refunded by F. W. Jordan, Jr., if not satisfied. It is a medicated air treatment that does not drug and derange the stomach, but is breathed in through the Hyomei inhaler that comes with every $1.00 outfit. It effectively destroys the catarrh germs and quickly soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane of the nose and throat.

Get a complete outfit now and be cured of catarrh. 17 Oct. 21 Adv.

tain wildcat also live at this level. Of the breeding birds, the sage hen and saw-whet owl are common. The Transition Zone is a partially open region of sage-covered slopes and parks alternating with brushy slopes of chokeberry and Juneberries. The Yellow Pine is the characteristic tree, and Douglas spruce abounds on the sharp declivities and the tops of high plateaus. Dogwood, Stonecrop, Tiger Lily and Blue Flag are common flowers. Of the reptiles, garter snakes and horned toads are found. The few areas open for cultivation are favorable for potatoes, alfalfa, wheat, timothy, oats, rye and ranching. All the vegetables, hardy cereals, apples and cherries reach development in this zone.

The cap of all the higher western plateaus lies in the Canadian Zone, so named because it reaches sea level in Canada, the upper limit in altitude being about 10,000 feet. The open portions small in area are grassy parks, while aspens and spruces supply the forests. This zone is poorly adapted to crops, and what little benefit there is to be secured comes from wild hay, summer range for cattle and timothy. The fact that wild strawberries, raspberries and currants grow in this belt, suggests a possibility of cultivation. The woodchuck, black bear, Canadian lynx and marten live here with the flycatcher and woodpecker. Alder, elder, columbine, yarrow and black-eyed Susan make up the herbage in small part, while the only reptile observed is the garter snake.

Just below the timber line, a forest belt of variable width along the upper slopes of mountain ranges, suggests the Hudsonian Zone. Its upper limit is approximately 11,500 feet. This zone reaches sea level in the Hudson Bay region, from which it takes its name. The vertical width, in the Colorado mountains, varies from 600 to 1,500 feet, the lower boundary being scarcely definable. The upper limit is more distinct because of the edge of timber growth. The common conifers are the balsam fir, spruce and the foxtail-pine, amid which the mountain sheep make their home. The bird life is restricted to less common types and the plant life includes but few with common names, small-flowered columbine, shrubby cinquefoil and the paint brush might be recognized by natives of the Atlantic border.

The crests of all the highest peaks lie within the highest or Arctic-Alpine Zone. Any point beyond the timber-line lies within its boundary. The area is a bare and bleak region covered with snow for the greater part of the year, a condition prohibitive of a variety of life of any kind. Mountain sheep, grizzly bear, coyotes, western fox and porcupine range along the timber line. Ptarmigan and the rosy finch are restricted to this zone at breeding time. Shrubs a few inches in height to but three feet, hug the ground in fear of the rigorous climate. Even beyond the sight of appreciative eyes, beautiful snowball saxifrage, brilliant marsh marigolds, chickweed, stonecrop and arctic gentian seem to bloom in vain. The spring beauty and forget-me-not too, live away up there, dwarfed in body but not depressed in spirit. Mosses and lichens alone grow above 13,000 feet. Probably, a reader may now be able to close his eyes and imagine the whole state, with its three parallel ribbons extending north and south and massive horizontal slices of earth, five in all, fitting snugly upon each other, each diminishing in volume as the top is approached. The whole is a great puzzle indeed.

Pike's Peak is not the most loft of its neighbors. Twenty-five others surpass it in altitude; but the traveler journeying toward the setting sun hails it first among them all, as he travels across the plain. For the pioneers, it stood a monument, and its name was on the tongue of every daring immigrant to the West since its discovery in 1806. The intrepid, Pike (Major Zebulon M. Pike) the explorer, heading a body of United States soldiers, sighted the snow-white crest from the plains ten days before he reached its base. Upon failure to reach its top, he exclaimed, "No human being could ascend to its pinnacle." Had he persisted, success might have crowned him as readily as Dr. Edwin James, who first reached the apex, July 14, 1819. Mrs. James H. Holmes claims a line in history as the first successful woman to scale it August 5, 1858. In spite of these outwitting events, it is fitting that the great mountain should bear the name of him who first described it to English speaking people. On November 13, Major Pike recorded that he saw a light-blue cloud, which he concluded to be a mountain, and when his small party arrived on the hill, they with one accord, gave three cheers to the "Mexican Mountains." Fourteen days thereafter, with three associates, he attempted the ascent. Having reached the summit of Cheyenne Mountain, poorly clad, temperature below freezing and surrounded by deep snow, he saw the discouraging prospect of the peak fifteen miles beyond, covered with snow and again as high as what they had ascended. Knowing that one full day would be required to merely reach its base, in despair, he turned his back to the mountain that perpetuates his memory.

(Continued next week.)

CASTORIA For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought Bears the Signature of Wm. D. Gifford

BOND ISSUE RUINOUS

Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce Says Plan is Wasteful.

Remarkable action was taken by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night, when it rescinded a former indorsement of the $50,000,000 state road bond proposal, to go before the voters next month, and by a vote of 61 to 9 adopted resolutions disapproving of the bonds.

The fight against the bond issue was led by H. H. Willock, who declared the chamber is opposed to it "because the present road law and its provisions for the improvement of roads out of current tax revenues, and in co-operation with the counties and townships of the state, is a good law, and adequate for all present road requirements," and, further, "because the proposed plan is financially imprudent, unwise and wasteful of the state's revenues."

At a chamber meeting on September 11, the bond issue was given favorable consideration, and E. J. Kent was authorized to go as a delegate to the recent good roads convention at Harrisburg. Kent's report came up for approval at Thursday night's meeting, and, to the dismay of the bond enthusiasts, was rejected. The chamber then formally reconsidered its former action, and as a wind-up, adopted the resolutions condemning the bond proposal. Objections to the bond plan, set forth in the resolutions, are that the proposed bonds will eat up $60,000,000 of the state revenue in interest; that $5,000,000 a year can be provided for road building out of the revenues, and this in ten years will amount to the total of the proposed bond issue; that the State of New York, which issued $50,000,000 of road bonds, found it necessary to issue another $50,000,000 in six years; that the cost of the upkeep of the roads in a few years will amount to $15,000,000 a year, and that the plan is unfair to Allegheny County, which already has made a large investment in roads.

T. J. Gillespie was the principal champion of the bonds. The speakers in opposition, besides Mr. Willock, included Oliver McClintock and Allen T. Burns.

EVERY STREET IN BEDFORD Has Its Share of the Proof That Kidney Sufferers Seek.

Backache? Kidneys weak? Distressed with urinary ills? Want a reliable kidney remedy? Don't have to look far. Use what Bedford people recommend. Every street in Bedford has its cases.

Here's one Bedford man's experience. Let William Easter, 113 W. Penn St., tell it. Says Mr. Easter: "Some years ago I had a severe attack of lumbago and my back became so lame that I could hardly get around. My kidneys were sluggish and the secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills were of greater benefit than any other kidney medicine I ever used. They acted promptly in removing the pain and lameness and I have had no trouble from my back or kidneys since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Oct. 10-21. Advertisement.

Just About.

"Mexico wants to borrow $75,000,000." "So do I, and I'm as good pay as Mexico."

Where They Lacked.

Poet—"What do you think of my verses?" Critic—"Too many feet and too little head."

135 LOST AT SEA

Steamship Volturino Ablaze in Wreck in Storm 24 Hours

BEFORE 521 ARE SAVED

Four Life Boats Smashed and Two Others Launched in Safety Not Found and Given Up for Lost.

London, October 11.—Not since the Titanic sank has Europe been so thrilled as by a wireless message today telling of the burning of the steamship Volturino in mid-Atlantic with a loss, so far as is at present known, of 135 lives and the rescue of 521. The survivors are now aboard a fleet of steamers summoned by the Volturino's call for help, some of which are bound eastward and others westward.

The Volturino sailed from Rotterdam, October 2, for New York. According to the official statement she carried 22 first cabin passengers, 538 steerage and a crew numbering 96.

The rescue ships reached the scene of the disaster in plenty of time to save all, but for hours stood by the blazing vessel, impotent, because of the storm, to reach the agonized men, women and children crowding the after part of the ship and within a stone's throw.

Waves Hold Rescuers at Bay All night Thursday the lifeboats made desperate efforts to get alongside the Volturino, but the waves beat them back again and again, and not until the storm abated at daylight Friday did the rescuers succeed in removing the survivors from the doomed ship.

Exactly how the rescue was effected is not known. The Volturino was well equipped with boats, sufficient, the agents say, for 1,000 people; but the boisterous sea or lack of boat drill or panic among the passengers prevented the successful employment of them. The rescue ships were able to lower lifeboats, but apparently most of the boats launched from the Volturino were smashed or upset and the occupants drowned. Two of the boats, crowded with passengers, are reported to have got away from the ship, but a search for them has proved fruitless and they have practically been given up as lost. The occupants of these boats are included in the death roll.

Ten Liners Watch, Helpless

The steamer Carmania, bound from New York for Liverpool, was 78 miles away when the call for help sounded. Captain Barr, ordering full steam, in spite of the gale, drove through the seas at 20 knots an hour and was first of the fleet to reach the burning vessel. She was followed by La Touraine, Minneapolis, Rappahannock, Czar, Narragansett, Devonian, Kronland, Grosser Kurfurst and Seydlitz at various hours throughout the day. But try as they might the rescuing vessels could get neither line nor lifeboat to the Volturino, the forward part of which was almost hidden by a dense cloud of smoke when the Carmania arrived.

The burning steamer lay in the trough of the sea, pounding helplessly, with her propellers fouled by the boats' tackle. The terrified passengers were huddled together as far as it was possible to get from the flames, while throughout the day the officers and crew fought desperately with whatever appliances were at hand to hold the fire in check.

Frantic Passengers Drop Into Sea

But night came on and the seas abated only slightly. The circle of steamers kept their searchlights playing and waited patiently within the danger zone for the first moment when they might again launch the life boats.

The hopelessness of the situation was manifested at 9 o'clock in the evening, when a great explosion tore away a part of the upper works, and flames burst from the engine room. It then became a matter of how long the Volturino would stay above the waters. Meanwhile several of the terrified passengers, wrapped in life buoys, dropped over into the sea. One of them was taken aboard the Carmania. It may be that others found a haven with other vessels of the fleet, but some undoubtedly were swept away.

When day broke the Volturino was still afloat. The gale had moderated and the seas had calmed down. From almost every one of the encircling steamers lifeboats were sent out, and into these the women and children were lowered first. Several trips were necessary before the survivors were removed to a place of safety. The blazing wreck was then abandoned and could not long have remained afloat.

Fire Starts as Storm Rages

The fire on the Volturino is said to have originated in the engine room at 9:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, and is supposed to have started from the friction of a rod of one of the twin propellers fouled at the height of the

(Continued on Third Page.)

Oklahoma Man Tells About Kidney Remedy

Several years ago I was taken with severe pains in my back, due to diseased kidneys, and was forced to give up my daily labors. I heard of your kidney remedy and resolved to try it. I did so with wonderful results.

Since taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root I have had no trouble from my kidneys. I am giving this testimonial of my own free will to let others know the wonderful merits of Swamp-Root.

If you should care to, you are at liberty to publish this testimonial whenever you choose.

Very truly yours,

J. A. FARRISH, Stillwater, Okla. Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 8th day of March, 1912. H. S. Haussner, Justice of the Peace.

Letter to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do for You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Bedford Gazette. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores. Sept. 25-41. Advertisement.

The Seeds of Thrift

Work today means rest tomorrow. Sacrifice in the present insures independence later on. The seeds of industry and thrift yield their certain harvest of prosperity and comfortable old age.

A bank account systematizes your business and promotes thrift. Try it.

HARTLEY BANKING CO. BEDFORD, PA.

John M. Reynolds, Allen C. Blackburn, Fred A. Metzger, J. Frank Russell, Simon H. Sell, J. Anson Wright, Frank E. Colvin, Cashier, Solicitor.

Foley's Kidney Pills

What They Will Do for You

They will cure your backache, strengthen your kidneys, correct urinary irregularities, build up the worn out tissues, and eliminate the excess uric acid that causes rheumatism. Prevent Bright's Disease and Diabetes, and restore health and strength. Refuse substitutes. ED. D. HECKERMAN

PATENTS

PROCESSED AND DEFENDED. Send model, drawing or photo. to receive search and free report. Free advice how to obtain patents, trade marks, copyrights, etc. IN ALL COUNTRIES. Business direct with Washington saves time, money and often the patent. Patent and Infringement Practice Exclusively. Write or come to us. 625 Ninth Street, opp. United States Patent Office, WASHINGTON, D. C.

CASNOW & CO.

Special Offers

We make the following offers to old or new subscribers:

PHILADELPHIA RECORD The Daily Record (regular price $3) and Gazette for one year at $4.00; six months, $2.00.

NORTH AMERICAN The Gazette and daily North American (regular price $3) one year, $3.75; six months, $1.90.

PITTSBURGH POST The Daily Post (regular price $5) and Gazette one year, $4.00; six months, $2.00.

STAR-INDEPENDENT The daily Harrisburg Star-Independent and Gazette one year, $3.30; six months, $1.70.

THE COMMONER The Commoner, weekly, W. J. Bryan's paper, regular price $1.00 per year, with The Gazette, $2.00.

ALL MAGAZINES We can furnish, at reduced rates, any magazine which clubs with newspapers. Let us know your wants and we will quote you the best prices obtainable. We can save you money.

Let Us Have Your Order Now. GAZETTE PUBLISHING COMPANY, Bedford, Penna.

Can't look well, eat well, or feel well with impure blood. Keep the blood pure with Burdock Blood Bitters. Eat simply, take exercise, keep clean, and good health is pretty sure to follow. $1.00 a bottle. Adv.

The Gazette, $1.50 a year to all

This Beautiful Hair

Is like what you want your hair to be—

Lustrous, bright and glossy; soft, silky and wavy.

To have beautiful hair like this, use

HARMONY HAIR BEAUTIFIER

It's just what its name implies—just to make the hair glossy, and lustrous, and more beautiful—just to make it easier to dress, and more natural to fall easily and gracefully into the wavy lines and folds of the coiffure, just to give that delightful fresh and cool effect, and leave a lingering, delicate, elusive perfume.

Will not change or darken the color of the hair. Contains no oil; therefore, cannot leave the hair sticky or stringy.

Very pleasant to use, very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it.

To thoroughly clean your hair and scalp, use

Harmony Shampoo

A liquid shampoo to keep the hair clean, soft, smooth and beautiful. It gives an instantaneous rich, foaming lather, penetrating to every part of the hair and scalp. It is washed off just as quickly, the entire operation taking only a few moments.

It leaves no lumps or stickiness.

—Just a refreshing sense of cool, sweet cleanliness.

—Just a dainty, pleasant and clean fragrance.

Both in odd-shaped ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops.
Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00; Harmony Shampoo, 50c.
Both guaranteed to please you, or your money back.

Sold only by the more than 7000 Rexall Stores—The World's Greatest Drug Stores—and made in our own big Boston Laboratories, where all the delightful HARMONY, VIOLET DULCE and BOUQUET JEANICE Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

Sold in this community only at

F. W. Jordan, Jr.,
Bedford, Pa.

The Rexall Store

135 LOST AT SEA

(Continued From Second Page.)

storm. It spread rapidly, driving the engineers and firemen from their quarters and leaving the big vessel at the mercy of the mountain-high waves.

This made the work of transferring the passengers extremely hazardous and the survivors say that four life-boats capsized in contact with the heaving ship, after being filled with passengers, and that all on board perished. Only two of the boats lowered weathered out the ordeal. The other survivors were either taken from rafts or picked up from the water, where they had jumped overboard. Most of the victims of the disaster were immigrants. There were 538 names on the steerage list and only 22 on that of the first cabin. Most of the crew of 96 were saved. The captain, purser, steward and several of the engineers were among the rescued.

Believe Many Burned to Death

It is the opinion of the survivors that many of the victims of the disaster were burned to death and not drowned, as the first reports would seem to indicate. Indeed, they say that so fiercely did the blaze spread that many of the immigrants were burned in their quarters without a chance of reaching more fortunate portions of the deck. Others, crazed by the spectacle, jumped overboard.

The Volturno has had a somewhat noted career. On her first trip to Halifax a few years ago she brought into that port the crew of a French bark, La Champagne, whom she rescued in mid-Atlantic during a storm as violent as that in which the Volturno was destroyed. The Volturno, then commanded by Captain Harrison, stayed by the sinking vessel for four days until the seas moderated sufficiently to launch a lifeboat.

Explosion Adds to Terror

At about 9 o'clock in the evening, when the darkness was at its blackest, flames burst through amidships of the Volturno from her engine room and coal bunkers. As the fire lighted up the sky this was followed by an explosion, which sent into the air burning wreckage like a flight of rockets.

The spectacle of the great vessel being consumed by fire with over 500 souls on board of her and surrounded by a fleet of huge lighted hulls crowded with thousands of spectators, all anxious but unable to help owing to the mountainous seas, beggared description.

All that could be done by the would-be helpers was to throw overboard from their vessels dozens of lighted life-buoys and stand by in the hope of picking up some of those who had been cast into the sea.

At 9:20 o'clock the wireless operator on board the Volturno had to turn over the connection of his instrument to the reserve batteries, as the fire had reached the boilers and the engine room, and had put the pumps and dynamos out of action.

Voice From Sea Brings Rescue

A few minutes later cries for help were heard rising from the water near the Carmania, and then a man, who proved to be a steerage passenger of the Volturno wearing a life belt, was located by means of the searchlight a short distance away, tossed about by the sea. He was rescued, but only after one of the sailors of the Carmania had been lowered into the water with a life line, which he placed around the waist of the exhausted floating man. Other cries were heard, but these gradually died away, and no further bodies or swimming people were seen.

About midnight a ray of hope came, for it was seen that the flames were not making much headway aft of the engine room or the after-bulkhead of the Volturno.

By daybreak the Volturno was still floating with her great human cargo huddled in masses on her poop. The sea had moderated considerably and a flotilla of boats gathered round the stern of the Volturno.

Carmania Reports 321 Saved

Captain Barr's official report of the disaster to the offices of the Cunard Line, timed on board the Carmania at 6:30 o'clock this morning, says:

"The Volturno was abandoned on account of fire on Friday, October 10, in latitude 48.25 north, longitude 34.33 west. All the survivors were taken off.

"The following is a list of those saved on board the 10 assisting steamers:

"Carmania, 11; Touraine, 40; Minneapolis, 30; Rappahannock, 19; Czar, 102; Narragansett, 2; Devonian, 59; Kroonland, 90; Grosser Kurfuerst, 105; Seydlitz, 36. Total, 521."

Captain Barr's report continues: "An incomplete list of those saved is on board the Carmania. I will forward it from Queenstown. Advices have been received from the purser of the Volturno that the original numbers on board that vessel when she sailed were 24 cabin passengers, 540 steerage passengers and 93 crew, making a total of 757. The crew of the Volturno was saved by the Kroonland; the captain, the chief, second, third and fifth engineers and two telegraphers by the Narragansett, the bakers and a steerage steward by the Czar, the purser and the surgeon by the Grosser Kurfuerst. Nineteen of the names have not been received by me."

Victims Were Russian Jews

Toronto, Ont., October 11.—At the headquarters of the Canadian Northern Royal line here, it was stated that the Volturno while owned by that company, had never been operated by it. The Uranium line had it chartered for seven years and the Canadian Northern merely acted as agents for the Uranium company in Canada. The vessel was valued at $400,000 and insured for $300,000. Of the 236 immigrants bound for Halifax nearly all were Russian Jews and were bound for the Canadian west.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

THRICE-A-WEEK N. Y. WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly—No Other Newspaper in the World Gives so Much at so Low a Price.

This is the time of great events, and you will want the news accurately and promptly. All the countries of the world steadily draw closer together, and the telegraph wires bring the happenings of every one. No other newspaper has a service equal to that of The World and it relates everything fully and promptly.

The World long since established a record for impartiality, and anybody can afford its Thrice-a-Week edition, which comes every other day in the week, except Sunday. It will be of particular value to you now. The Thrice-a-Week World also abounds in other strong features, serial stories, humor, markets, cartoons; in fact, everything that is to be found in a first-class daily.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD'S regular subscription price is only $1 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and The Bedford Gazette together for one year for $2.20. The regular subscription price of the two papers is $2.50.

May Need It in a Hurry. Wall Street continues to ship gold to Europe. Has President Wilson the plans and specifications of his Haman gibbet?

Unrecognizable. Why do they print a girl's name on her wedding invitation in such a way that her own mother will hardly recognize it?

Various Weapons. The pike, the strike and the hika have all made history.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson III.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 19, 1913.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Num. xiii, 1-3; 25-33—Memory Verses, 31, 32—Golden Text, Rom. viii, 31—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This is our last study in Israel's story until we come near to the close of the forty years, and we must consider not only the murmuring of the people because of the report of the ten spies, but also the murmuring of Korah and his company against Aaron. No sooner are they out of Egypt than they are complaining and wishing they were back again (Ex. xiv, 10-12). And so it was all the way along, and in our next lesson we shall find the new generation still murmuring like their fathers.

In today's lesson we find them on the borders of the promised land, with nought to do but to go up and possess it (Deut. 1, 19-27). We might conclude from the first three verses of our lesson, if we had no other record, that it was part of the Lord's plan for them to send spies to search out the land, and see if His description of it was correct; but from Deut. 1, 22, we find that the sending of spies was the people's suggestion, which Moses seems to have indorsed, no doubt thinking that such a good land as he knew they would find it to be, would encourage them to go right up (Ps. ciii, 7).

The Lord indulged them in their desire, to send spies and commanded to send a ruler from each tribe. So Moses sent them that they might see if the land was good or bad, fat or lean, and to bring of the fruit of it (verses 17-20). When the Lord had said to Moses that He would bring Israel unto a good land, and a large, unto a land flowing with milk and honey (Ex. iii, 8), we cannot think that he ever questioned whether these things were so or not; but these unbelieving people who could not believe anything unless they saw it had to see for themselves, and they did, and the twelve spies returned after forty days with figs and pomegranates, and one cluster of grapes which two men had to carry on a staff (verses 23-25).

They testified as to the land "Surely it floweth with milk and honey, and this is the fruit of it" (verse 27). But they also saw walled cities and giants, and saw themselves as grasshoppers, and said, we are not able to go up against this people. Two of the twelve spies, however, were true believers, and they said: "Let us go at once and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. * * * Only rebel not ye against the Lord, neither fear ye the people of the land. * * * The Lord is with us, fear them not" (xiii, 30; xiv, 6-9).

Again God suggested to Moses that He destroy them all, and make of Moses a great nation (xiv, 12; compare Ex. xxviii, 10); but Moses again pleaded for them, and in answer to his prayer the Lord said, "I have pardoned according to thy word; but as truly as I live, all the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord" (xiv, 13-21). This is the first statement that the earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord, and it is made in connection with the forgiveness of Israel as a nation.

Even so shall it be; for until Israel as a nation is saved, at the coming of Christ's glory, the earth will never be filled with the glory of the Lord. Never in this age, but in the next, after the return of the Lord to restore all things of which the prophets have spoken (Acts iii, 19-21). Compare Isa. vi, 3; margin; xl, 19; Hab. ii, 14. As none of that generation from twenty years old and upward, who were numbered by Moses, ever entered the land, because of their unbelief, except the two faithful spies, Caleb and Joshua, who wholly followed the Lord, but were compelled to wander in the wilderness forty years, a year for a day, until they all died, so there are multitudes today who never enter into rest, but wander in the wilderness of unbelief because they do not rely on the Lord, and overcome by faith. They ever see themselves and their difficulties instead of the Lord (xiv, 22-30; compare Hab. iii and iv).

The little ones who had no knowledge of good and evil in those days, they entered the land (xiv, 31; Deut. 1, 39). These are helpful words concerning our little ones who die before they come to years of knowledge. The blood of the Lamb avails for them. From Rev. 14:4-5 learn that when we presume to do what God forbids, even though it may seem right, we are sure to fail.

The story of the ribband of blue in chapter xv, 2-4 is most interesting, for holiness must be from within, no mere outward help can suffice. In chapter xvi, in chapter xvii, we see again the sin of speaking against the Lord's chosen ones, however unworthy they may be. The judgment upon Korah and his company because they spoke against Aaron is, like all the other incidents, written for our benefit.

The sons of Korah were not slain, but their descendants became leaders of the praises of the Lord. See Num. xxvi, 11, and the introduction to Psalm xlv to xlix and others. They certainly had cause to praise God after so great a deliverance; but what about all who are delivered from the wrath to come? (I Thess. i, 10).

Lincoln's Catarrh Balm

Ministers and Druggists Recommend Lincoln's Catarrh Balm.

For Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Hay Fever, Spitting, Asthma, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Sore Throat and Deafness Caused by Catarrh.

Rev. J. P. Pender, Blairsville, Pa.; Rev. S. L. Messenger, Trappe, Pa.; Rev. W. G. Brubaker, Phoenixville, Pa.; Rev. J. B. Freeman, Allentown, Pa.; O. B. J. Haines, druggist, Allentown, Pa., and Howard R. Moyer, druggist, Quakertown, Pa., all say over their signatures that they have used LINCOLN'S CATARRH BALM, that it gives quick relief, perfect satisfaction and is as recommended. CATARRH, ASTHMA and HAY FEVER CURED.

William Heater, Allentown, Pa., writes: He suffered twelve years from Asthma and Catarrh, Lincoln's Catarrh Balm cured him.

John MacGregor, Bridgeport, Pa., writes: That after suffering years with Catarrh and Hay Fever, Lincoln's Catarrh Balm cured him.

Order today, 50 cents a jar at ED. D. HECKERMAN'S, The Druggist, Bedford, Pa.

Bedford, Pa.

50 Yrs. Mixing Medicine and still at it

THOUGHTS IN A CHURCHYARD

(By Sylvan)

"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood, When fond recollection presents them to view."

How doubly dear when the scenes of our childhood were laid amid the beauties and grandeur of sylvan life, and we now contrast them with the life of hurry and hustle that we must endure, to exist in the business world. These are the thoughts that came to us, sitting in the grove that surrounds an old church in the Township of Monroe, in Bedford County, Pennsylvania.

This grand old Monroe, named for the man of whom Jefferson said, if his soul were turned inside out, not a stain could be found on it. Perhaps this would not hold with every resident of this township, but a few years ago a member of one of the prominent families of Clear Ridge announced that he had a twenty dollar gold piece for anybody that could say any one of his name ever told a lie; there were nine families of that name in the township; no one claimed the money. From Monroe have gone out teachers, preachers, doctors, lawyers and public officers; where is there one that has failed to make good?

Here, in the shadow of this Old Frame Church on Clear Ridge, we will do well to pause a little and give reverential thought to the men and women of the past generation who found time for the real things of life and who realized that their first duty to their children was to teach them honesty and truthfulness. Here lie the bodies of many of the fathers and mothers in Israel, and who shall say that their spirits do not hover over us, anxious that we seek after the things that abide, which alone are worth while.

A few months ago there were laid to rest here the father and mother in a family connected with this congregation since its organization sixty-nine years ago. May their children prove worthy of their heritage. "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches."

Strangers wonder why this is called the "Frame Church;" think this is only an ignorant expression, since nearly all the churches of the community are framed. But this is now the oldest church building in the township and the first one framed, those built previous to this being of logs.

For sixty years it here has stood, This old Frame Church on Clear Ridge; And who can tell its power for good.

Its memories how sacred!

The pioneer of churches framed, In all the country round it, 'Twas thus then fitly it was named A name e'er since repeated.

The "meeting house" they called it too,

A term now out of fashion, But if our hearts to God be true, How could we name it better?

But these are only home names given,

The real name is Bethel, The House of God, the Gate of Heaven, The foot of Jacob's ladder.

Don't use harsh physics. The reaction weakens the bowels, leads to chronic constipation. Get Doan's Regulax. They operate easily. 25c at all stores. Adv.

Bedford Gazette

ESTABLISHED IN 1805

The Gazette is the leading newspaper of Bedford County and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

Regular subscription price per year $1.50, payable in advance.

Card of Thanks, 50c; Resolutions, $1.00.

All communications should be addressed to Gazette Publishing Co.,

Bedford, Pa.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 17, 1913.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET

Director of the Poor
JOSEPH STAYER of Bedford Township
Jury Commissioner
WILLIAM DRENNING of West Providence Township

BOROUGH TICKET

Judge of Election—East Ward, H. Ellis Koonitz; West Ward, J. F. Brightbill.

Inspector—East Ward, Howard S. Diehl; West Ward, S. S. Whitestone.

Chief Burgess—William R. Piper.
Councilmen—Frank Beemiller, J. Calvin Bortz, John B. McLaughlin, Ross A. Stiver.

School Directors—J. Roy Cessna, William S. Reed.

Tax Collector—Edward F. England.

Assessor—Moses Lippel.

Assistant Assessor—East Ward, John Hughes; West Ward, M. C. Leader.

Auditor—William A. Weisel.
Constable—Jacob Rohm.

BE NOT DECEIVED

Every voter who is twenty-two years of age and over is entitled to vote at the coming election, provided he has paid state and county taxes within two years. If you have not enrolled, or given your party affiliation to the assessor, it will not deprive you from voting. This only applies to primary elections.

Let no one deceive you. Go to the polls on November 4 and cast your ballot for the men of your choice.

BUSY BEDFORD

Is there any reason why Bedford should not be a busy town? Is there any reason why Bedford should not have more manufacturing plants? Is there any reason why Bedford should not be a thriving, hustling, bustling place? None in the world, and if everybody will get together and pull together—and if every fellow will not be afraid of the other fellow, and will do less talking and more acting, in a short time we could have such a town. Think it over and get busy.

THE RIGHT MAN

Joseph Stayer, the Democratic nominee for Director of the Poor, is a progressive farmer of Bedford Township, as well as an economical business man. His election as a member of the Board of Directors will bring it up to a high standard of efficiency. This will mean a large saving to the taxpayers of the county. He is thoroughly reliable, and he is not the tool of any political gang or clique. A vote for Mr. Stayer is one in the interests of the taxpayers, whose hard-earned money, in many instances, has been squandered in the furtherance of political machines.

TUESDAY NIGHT'S LECTURE

At the lecture Tuesday night in Assembly Hall by Dr. Edward Amherst Ott, under the auspices of the Bedford Board of Trade, some sane and practical ideas for the betterment of the town were advanced by the speaker. It is to be regretted, however, that a much larger audience did not greet the lecturer.

If we are to judge by the size of the audience, more than one-half of the business men of the town are not interested in the subject so ably presented by Mr. Ott. In fact, many members of the Board of Trade were conspicuous by their absence. Has this organization, like many other similar societies of the past years, been buried and forgotten? If this is the case, why not resurrect it? It can be done and ought to be done at once. Why not get together, reorganize, if necessary, and attempt in a measure, to work out some of the valuable suggestions given by Mr. Ott. Who will take the first step to bring this about?

"BEDFORD BEAUTIFUL"

Of the many visitors who come to Bedford annually nine out of every ten will tell you that Bedford is a very pretty town. There is one matter, however, to which they will call your attention and that is our streets. "If you only had good streets," they say, "you would have a town that could not be surpassed anywhere." We all know that Bedford has been greatly favored by beautiful natural surroundings. We also know that the town, financially, is not in a condition to spend much money for the improvement of the streets. Would it not be a good idea then if each and every property holder and tenant would take the matter in his own hands and in front of his own property do everything possible by keeping the gutters and pavements clean and remove the grass and weeds from in front of his home? Then possibly on some of the side streets our City Fathers would help some to make the streets presentable to visitors.

Would it not also be a good plan for everyone in Bedford to use every effort to put and keep the place where they live in good order. This would be a good investment, both from a financial and healthful standpoint. Let us all think it over and act quickly.

Let us all work to make Bedford Beautiful—and we will find that in a very short time we will be well repaid for our efforts. Let us all work and pull together—and it will be only a question of time until we will be an example for other towns. Let us waste no time in starting. Begin now.

HOW TO GET GOOD ROADS

The time has long gone by when any argument in favor of good roads in Pennsylvania was needed. Everybody wants good roads. There is a demand for them from the people of all classes in every part of the state.

The question that the people have now to discuss and decide is not whether or not good roads are wanted, but how are we to get them. The Penrose-McNichol-Tener-Bigelow machine taking advantage of this universal desire for good roads, offers as a solution of the problem a constitutional amendment, authorizing the creation of a bonded debt for $50,000,000.

Considered solely from an economic standpoint, to make such a debt would be to adopt a policy that is absolutely wrong.

The State Highway Department since it was established ten years ago has never shown that it is capable of building roads that will last, roads that can be fairly called permanent improvements, such as only would justify an issue of bonds to construct them. Nothing could excuse us for bonding ourselves and our posterity for a mere temporary expedient like the state roads that have been and are now being constructed. No individual partnership or corporation would think of pursuing such false business methods. Why should the people of the state do it?

The methods of the State Highway Department are so loose and unscientific, its knowledge of road building so imperfect and its methods so haphazard that it is impossible to ascertain from the department or from the Auditor General what has been the average cost of the roads thus far built or how much money in the aggregate has been expended upon them.

We know that since he came into office, State Highway Commissioner Bigelow has had at his disposal more than $12,800,000, or more than one-fourth of the money that would be realized from a $50,000,000 bond issue; that none of these roads are of a character that they can be called permanent improvements; though some of them cost as high as $29,000 a mile. We are told that for 190 miles of them, the contractors were paid an average of $13,341.18 per mile, but that does not include the "extras" allowed contractors nor the cost of engineering supervision and other work done by the Highway Department.

But even if the Highway Department were building roads that would be permanent, a bond issue to carry on the work would be unnecessary and improper. It is well known that with proper management of the state finances $5,000,000 or more a year can be taken from current revenues for the construction of new roads which is as much as can be economically expended.

The automobile license fees amounting to a million dollars a year will go a long way towards taking care of the maintenance of state roads. If a $50,000,000 loan were made it would require $3,000,000 a year to provide for the interest and sinking fund on it. This could be much better used for road building.

It is not to be forgotten that during his last year in office Auditor General Sisson increased the state revenues a couple of million of dollars by readjusting the assessments on some of the great public service corporations and requiring them to pay the amounts justly due from them to the state. This he accomplished with an inadequate force of assistants and investigators. Since then the department has been reorganized and the force enlarged and there is no doubt that with the additional help that has been provided, other readjustments of corporation taxes can be made so that the increase in state revenues from them will amount to much more than Mr. Sisson affected.

Here can probably be found the reason why the public service corporations of the state are so anxious for a bond issue. They see a way to escape paying their fair share of taxes because of the tremendous demand for good roads throughout the state.

The foregoing is a brief outline of the economic reasons why the people should defeat the constitutional amendment to authorize this great debt to build roads which would be completely worn out and gone before the last of the debt was paid.

But there are political as well as economic reasons why the proposed constitutional amendment should be voted down. The whole scheme is involved in politics. The State Highway Department has been organized as a political machine. Superintendents, inspectors and other subordinates throughout the state, confessedly have been appointed because they were servants of the Penrose machine and could be depended upon to do the bidding of the machine. Their qualifications as road builders in their appointment was subordinated to their success as political manipulators and vote getters. The whole department from top to bottom has been organized and is run to build up and strengthen a selfish, corrupt and corrupting machine that for years has robbed and oppressed the people under the pretense of serving them.

WHERE THE CHURCHES STAND

Official Platforms or Declarations of Four Denominations.

In view of the announcement that the ministers of Bedford will give special attention to the temperance question in their sermons next Sunday evening, the 19th inst., it is of timely interest to recall just what the official platform or declaration of various church denominations is on this subject. The following statements of four of these denominations are taken from their highest official sources as national organizations:

Lutheran: The General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church "hereby reiterates its policy of hostility to the beverage alcoholic liquor traffic, and urges our people in every possible way to hasten its overthrow; it urgently recommends the principle and practice of total abstinence from alcoholic beverages. The Synod expresses its earnest approval of the many advanced steps taken by the Congress of the U. S. in behalf of temperance reform in recent years, especially the recently enacted Webb-Kenyon interstate law designed to unfetter the states in their proper control of the traffic within their borders. It expresses its appreciation and commendation of the good work accomplished by the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Anti-Saloon League, Good Templars and other non-ecclesiastical organizations in their efforts to promote temperance and destroy the saloon."—From the Proceedings of the General Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the United States at Atchison, Kan., May 1913.

Presbyterian: The temperance platform of the Presbyterian Church is "total abstinence for the individual and prohibition for the State and Nation." The law of the church as declared by action of the General Assembly forbids "all members in her communion to rent property for the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages, to sign petitions, or go on bonds to secure license, to present applications in court which legalize the traffic, to purchase or hold an interest in a brewery or a distillery, or in any way to aid or abet the evil of intemperance. The Assembly declares the licensure of the liquor traffic to be unscriptural, unethical, unsocial, unpatriotic, immoral and illogical, therefore, wholly inconsistent with the claims of Christian discipline." It favors a prohibition amendment to the Constitution of the U. S.—From the resolutions of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Atlanta, Ga., May 1913.

Reformed: The Anti-Saloon League "seeks to secure improved legislation for the abolition of the saloon by direct submission to the people through Local Option elections; and further, the enforcement of prohibitory laws wherever such may be enacted. Wherefore, in view of these facts, we express our appreciation of the aim and object of the American Anti-Saloon League, and gratefully recognize the work it has done; and we commend it to our people as being worthy of their confidence, their encouragement and their support." Resolved further that the "General Synod expresses its firm conviction that members of the church ought not to engage in the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors to be used as a beverage."—From the Proceedings of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in the U. S. at York, Pa., May 1908.

Methodist: The General Rules of the Methodist Episcopal Church forbid drunkenness and the buying or selling or drinking of spirituous liquors. "The liquor traffic cannot be legalized without sin." We condemn the license policy. It is vicious in principle, utterly inconsistent with the policy of enlightened government.

"We stand for the speediest possible suppression of the liquor traffic. Under that divine law, which is the source of all human law, the only proper attitude toward anything so harmful as the liquor traffic is absolute prohibition, and we recommend that our people participate in every wise movement for local prohibition as a step toward State and National prohibition."

his ballot in the manner which will be most effective against the saloon. "We record our judgment that no candidate for any office which in any way may have to do with the liquor traffic has a right to expect, nor ought he to receive, the support of Christian citizens so long as he stands committed to the liquor interests or refuses to put himself in accord with a crystallized public sentiment for the overthrow of the liquor traffic."—From the Resolutions of the General Conference of the M. E. Church, 1912, as found in the Discipline, pages 506-9.

It is believed that all consistent church members are sincere in their desire and intent, under the yows they have taken, to live and act in accord with the principles of their church. A knowledge of these principles is helpful to that worthy end. Respectfully submitted,
A Layman.

VOTER, READ THIS!

Official Facts From County and Borough Records.

Bedford County, under a "no-license" regime, has broken all previous records of progress and prosperity, according to the Mercantile Appraiser's return of 1913, as the following facts taken from these county official records show:

Total mercantile volume of business according to the Mercantile Appraiser's 1913 return.	$2,604,904
Total for 1909 (under license)	1,931,937

A gain under "no-license" of about 35%, or	$672,967
Total for restaurants per 1913 return	$12,002
Total for restaurants per 1909 return	8,100

A gain of about 50% under "no-license," or ...	$3,902
--	---------

Bank deposits have increased over $500,000 in the county under "no-license."

Total jail expenses for 1909	$2,349.44
Total jail expenses from Oct. 1, 1912, to Oct. 1, 1913, $1,770.47, less $304.76 insurance on building and contents, (not required in 1909).	1,465.71

Amount saved to county... $883.73

Arrests for drunkenness in Bedford from April 1, 1909, to April 1, 1910, 65. Arrests for drunkenness in Bedford (no-license) from April 1, 1912, to April 1, 1913, 12.

No arrests during County Fair 1913, with largest attendance on the grounds for years.

In the light of these facts which point toward a general improved social condition and financial gain to the county under "no-license" the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Bedford County pleads for a ballot cast on the side of temperance and sobriety that the greatest good may come to the greatest number.

A vote for the saloon means death to somebody's boy! Have you a boy to spare?

The Paramount Issue

There has generally been in our great Political Campaigns one issue or another standing out prominently from all others and has its strong adherents coming out boldly and fearlessly in public utterances from the platform and through the medium of the press that favored their respective views. These views have been some of a radical others of a conservative nature. Notwithstanding the wide publicity of these views, many voters become so aligned with one party or the other that they grow in the habit of going to the polls and, although ignorant of the issues at stake, simply voting the party ticket. In many instances this becomes a family habit—son voting as father did, one generation following the preceding in partyism and oftentimes practicing their ballot in favor of the principles they have inherited. This custom has largely passed away and men are wanting to know what they are supporting at the polls.

Behind issues are men seeking public honors, the issue is in fact the representative of the man. Most issues that have attracted our attention could be viewed from only an economic standpoint—but few could be discussed from both moral and economic angles.

The Paramount Issue that is to the front today is the Liquor Traffic and in our county the question is—"Shall the licensed saloon be restored or no." The editors of our papers have expressed their views on this and we are pleased to say, have offered the columns of their respective papers to their patrons or others for a free open discussion of what should concern every man, woman and child. A challenge is hereby offered to both sides—those who favor the reopening of the saloons and those who under deep moral and economic convictions deem it best to keep their doors closed.

Let us hear from men of all professions and vocations. Our lawyers can tell us something about the relation of the saloon to the efficiency of the legal profession. Perhaps some merchants can tell us how it helps their business. Let us hear from the laborer, the railroad man, the farmer, the mechanic, the banker; does it increase the cost of the bank? We have men posing as devout Christians, whose business takes them over the country districts who are proclaiming to the people, as they go along that conditions are so much worse in their immediate locality since the saloons are closed, that the only way to have peace and order is to elect men to office who will open the saloon doors so the irrigating may be done more moderately. Perhaps some mother can tell us the relation the saloon bears to that great institution "The Home."

As the choosing of those to whom are entrusted the discretion of whether we shall have the saloon or not has been eliminated from politics, this, coupled with the provisions of the Brooks License law, makes the issue a straightforward one. A. A. Hyde.

Fancy Needfuls at Little Prices

All good things to eat at

A. SCALETTA & SON

Read these prices and then come in to see us. All goods nice and FRESH

Sweet Potatoes, 20c per peck, $2 per barrel.
Hickory Nuts, 10c qt. or 3 qts. for 25c.
Nice Fancy Cranberries, 10c qt.
Oranges, large size, 5c piece; medium size, 30c doz.; small size, 25c.
Amirion Grapes, 15c lb.
Lemons, 20, 25 and 30c doz.
Bananas, 10, 15 and 20c doz.
Large Spanish Onions, 2 for 5c and 3 for 10c, according to size
Home grown Onions, 25c peck.
Apples, 28c peck.
Celery, 5 and 6c large stalk.
Green Peppers, 2 doz. for 25c.

Drop in to see us and look over our fine line.

A. SCALETTA & SON

2 doors west of Old Bedford House BEDFORD, PA.

A $25 SUIT

OR OVERCOAT

MADE-TO-MEASURE

$15

This splendid value is possible because we sell direct. We are manufacturers and sell the clothes we make direct to the man who wears them. You get the profits that would go to the salesman. A saving of $10 on an all-wool, made-to-measure suit or overcoat.

SEND FOR OUR NEW STYLE BOOK & SAMPLES

It shows the latest styles and gives the latest information on dress and how to take your own measure. We guarantee a perfect fit from these measurements.

If the Clothes are not Satisfactory we Refund your money or make a new garment

Send for the Style Book and Samples today and learn how you can save $10. A postal brings it.

INTER-STATE WOOLEN MILLS COMPANY

13 Main Street Jamestown, New York

Grange Resolutions

The following resolutions were recently adopted by members of Loysburg Grange No. 1104, Patrons of Husbandry:

Resolved, It has pleased the All-wise Creator to remove from our midst by death our highly respected and dearly beloved sister, Mrs. Samuel Fink; we deem it fitting and proper to express our sense of the deep loss which our Grange has sustained by her death; therefore, be it

Resolved, That Loysburg Grange, No. 1104, deeply mourn the loss of one whose life and attendance has brightened our social circle and whom we must remember with regret.

Resolved, That we share with the family of the deceased the grief of a home bereft of a kind and loving mother but deeply as we mourn their loss and sympathize with them, we bow in humble submission to the Divine will.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family, placed upon the minutes of the Grange and submitted for publication.

J. S. Bayer,

J. A. Biddle,

Committee

Loysburg, Pa., October 13, 1913.

Not Paint

With linseed oil at $1, what sort of oil do you think they use in "paint" at $1.75 and $1.50?

That stuff is counterfeit paint. You can cheat yourself; you can't cheat Time or Weather.

Paint is a rubbery coat over wood and iron to keep-out water.

Counterfeit paint may look like it; counterfeit money looks like money. What are all counterfeiters for? They are all alike.

DEVOTE

Metzger Hardware and House Furnishing Company sell it. Adv.

School Report

Following is a report of the Pine Grove School, East St. Clair Township, for the first month, which ended on Friday: Number of pupils enrolled, males 12, females 13, total 25; average attendance, males 7, females 10; total 17; per cent. of attendance, males 91, females 87, total 89. Honor Roll: Carrie Sleight, Freda Knisley, Sarah Mock, Mary Mock, Florence Cook, Christine Mangos, Stella Mowry, Irene Vaughn, Benson Knisley, Orio Bender and Dennis Bender.

Lawrence Helsol, Teacher.

Friend's Cove Lutheran Charge

J. J. Minemer, Pastor
Sunday, October 19—St. Mark's: Sunday School 9; Harvest Home service 10 a. m. Bald Hill: Sunday School 1; Harvest Home service 2:30 p. m. Everybody is invited to attend these services

Schellsburg

October 16—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller and Mr. and Mrs. McCracken, of Pittsburgh, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Misses Ealy. They were accompanied along back by Miss Carrie Ealy.

Miss Kate Williams is visiting relatives at Somerset and Johnstown.

Mrs. Otto Emerick of Johnstown is the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. M. Whitestone.

Charles Appleman of Indianapolis spent a day or so recently with Dr. T. F. Ealy and family.

Comfrey Stuckey and wife, of Los Angeles, Cal., were recent guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Lyle Bgoff.

A. B. Ross and family returned last week from a visit with relatives in Philadelphia. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Ross' mother, Mrs. Darlington.

Miss Pearl Mangos, Miss Mickle, Messrs. Gohn and Hoover, of Windber, came over in an auto and spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. Grant Mangos.

Mrs. William Kerr and daughter Blanch, of Napier Township, spent Tuesday in town with friends.

Roy Mowry and family, Mrs. James Williams and Mrs. J. H. Williams and son were Bedford visitors on Wednesday.

Glenn Wolfe and three of his friends, of Johnstown, came over on Wednesday to hunt. They returned home Wednesday evening.

Turner-Pensyl

On Thursday, October 9, at the Reformed parsonage, Mann's Choice, Grant E. Turner of Juniata Township and Miss Ocie M. Pensyl of Dry Ridge were united in marriage by Rev. Emmet M. Adair, Ph. D.

May-Gosnell

Thomas May of Sulphur Springs and Miss Cora Gosnell of near Saltsburg were recently married at the Pennsylvania Hotel, Cumberland, by Rev. Eugene P. Skyles.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by his firm.

National Bank of Commerce, Toledo, O. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. Adv.

NEW TRIMMINGS

Call and see our Handsome Colored Plush, Brocaded Silk and Velvets, Bengaline and Bulgarian Velvet for the new hats. These materials make the most up-to-date hats imaginable. Maribou and Ostrich bands, Bulgarian ribbons, and feathers and plumes, all shades for trimming.

MRS. ELLA GILCHRIST

BEDFORD, PENNA.

WATCHES

We will save you money on the watch you wish to buy. We have them in all grades and at all prices.

7 jewel Elgin in 20 year gold filled case	$12.00
7 jewel Trenton in 20 year gold filled case	9.00
7 jewel Trenton in 10 year gold filled case	7.00

Silverline cased watches at from $3.00 to $12.00, according to the works that are in them.

JAMES E. CLEAVER

Jeweler

Bedford, Penna.

Optician

FREE "THE BARNUM" SAFETY RAZOR

You pay 25c for a stick of Shaving Soap and I give you a Barnum Razor.

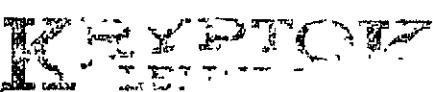

JOHN R. DULL, Druggist

Krypton Lenses do not mar good looks.

Don't Advertise Your Age

Keep looking young. Don't wear glasses with bad joints, seams or streaks. Let us furnish you with

They are one solid piece of beautifully clear crystal glass. They carry grace and elegance with them—improve your looks—give you far and near sight in one lens. Come in today and let us show you.

J. FLOYD MURDOCK

Ridenour Block

Graduate Optician

Jeweler

Fishertown

October 14—G. Shannon Miller of Altoona was a Sunday visitor at the home of Joseph Griffith.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller, of Roaring Spring, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Nathan Miller.

Paul Miller, after a week's stay with his grandparents here, returned to his home at Roaring Spring on Saturday.

Miss Effie Miller of Martinsburg and Miss Cora Delosier of Hollidaysburg were guests of Mrs. D. Blattenberger over Sunday.

Rev. Hoover and Miss Ella Way were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCreary, of Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Landis returned to their home in Pitsburgh last Friday, after a short visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hoover.

There will be preaching service in the Lutheran Church here Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. H. W. Bender.

Advertise in The Gazette for quick results.

Springhope

October 15—Nathan Way and wife of Iowa, are visiting at Albert Wolf's.

William Jordan and wife, of Windber, and Samuel Lape and wife, of Stoyestown, spent Sunday at the home of R. S. Rininger at this place.

Alice Rininger, who has been visiting friends at Windber for the past seven weeks, returned home on Sunday.

Rev. Board preached two very interesting sermons at this place Sunday morning and evening.

Miss Martha Hershberger of Johnstown was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hershberger several days last week.

H. L. Hull and wife were guests of friends at Shanksville on Sunday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Hull's mother, who has been visiting at this place for some time.

Charles Griffith of Altoona spent several days last week with his parents near this place.

Albert Wolf and wife and Nathan Way and wife visited the family of Frank Wolf near New Buena Vista on Sunday.

D. B. Griffith unloaded a carload of coal at Fishertown Station this week.

The quarterly meeting of the Baptist Church will be held at this place on the second Sunday in November.

Hopewell

October 14—Mrs. Sullivan of Hyndman was visiting at the home of Mrs. Ella Foster recently.

Samuel Fink of Yellow Creek spent a short time in town last Saturday.

The evil effects of the re-opening of the saloons in Huntingdon are apparent here, thirty-two miles distant, and all along the line between these points. Men are taking their money there and spending it for booze instead of paying their honest debts at home. Vote for the no-license man—Sammel.

Clarence Ross is confined to his home by an attack of typhoid fever. There are several houses placarded in town owing to some of the children having contracted the whooping cough.

New Enterprise

October 15—Mrs. David Price of Bedford is a guest at the home of her nephew, D. W. Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Snyder and children and Blair Snyder and Lottie Hynes, of Roaring Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pressel were Sunday guests of Harry Snyder.

Mrs. C. W. Gensimore of Bedford was a recent New Enterprise visitor. Mrs. Libbie Bassler of Woodbury spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Simon Snyder.

Miss Lena Brumbaugh spent Saturday with her cousin, Miss Edna King.

Mrs. G. S. Pote and daughter Carrie, of Baker's Summit, Margaret Fluke of Yellow Creek, Bruce Brumbaugh of Roaring Spring and Margaret Hoover, Edna King and John Walk, of this place, spent Sunday at the home of Frank Brumbaugh.

A prettily wedding took place at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Levi Holsinger Saturday evening, when their daughter, Iva Virginia, was married to Oscar K. Beach.

St. Clairsville Reformed Charge

J. W. Zehring, Pastor
Sunday, October 19—Osterburg: Sunday School 9; preaching 10:15 a. m. Imber: Sunday School 1; preaching 2:15 p. m.

Rainsburg

October 14—Ellis Koonitz, J. Roy Cessna and Mr. Croyle, of Bedford, were business visitors to our town on Monday.

Mrs. Moffie Whitfield of near Rainsburg is critically ill.

Misses Jessie Gates, Ruth Lessig, Stella Sparks and Mary Ressler were Bedford visitors on Saturday.

Chester Cessna and sister, Miss Reta, were visitors at the home of Charles Longenecker from Friday until Tuesday.

John Ott, who has been working in Jeannette for the past two months, is visiting his wife and daughter here.

A beautiful and impressive harvest home service was held at the Reformed Church Sunday evening. Rev. W. C. Pugh preached a fine sermon on "The Harvest is Plenty but the Laborers are Few."

Alva Whitfield disposed of his personal property at public sale on Tuesday. He will move to Wilkinsburg in the near future.

Miss Mary Morgart left on Saturday on an extended visit with friends in Cumberland and Derry.

Mrs. Roger Williams returned on Sunday from a visit with her sister, Mrs. B. F. Hunt of Clearville.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McClintic, of Bedford, visited in our town from Friday until Saturday.

Mrs. Clara Imber left on Wednesday on a business trip to Altoona.

Hunting season came in on Wednesday. Quite a number of hunters from different parts of the state are in our community to enjoy the sport.

Mann's Choice R. D. 1

October 14—Miss Blanche Holler and brother Guy spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Clarence Hillegass. Frank Elder of Buffalo Mills and Frederick Beagle of Wolfburg Sundayed with George Shoemaker and family.

Mrs. J. C. Russell and daughter Margaret, of Bedford, and Miss Ruth Melroy of Wolfburg were Sunday guests at the home of John Keller and family.

Mrs. Upton Brant of Buffalo Mills spent a week recently with her mother, Mrs. Anna Culp, of Schellsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hillegass and son Walter spent a few days recently at the home of Mrs. Hillegass' sister, Mrs. David England, of Friend's Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Coughenour and children, Chester and Evelyn, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Diehl.

Death again visited in our community and took Mrs. Fred Diehl of Dry Ridge. Interment was made Wednesday morning.

True Value B & B True Value

drapery materials

Imported Cretons and Cotton Art Taffetas, 18c yard.

Printed Curtain Scrim—White or Cream with colored borders, 15c yard.

Voile Scrim with dainty shadow borders, 30c and 35c yard.

Linen and Bokara Taffetas for slip covers and cushions, 50c yard.

Jaspe Cretons—heavy tapestry effects—22c yard.

Japanese Table Covers—White ground with colored designs, $1.25 each.

Stand Covers, 75c each.

boys' suits

"Oliver Twist" Suits for boys—Grey Ratine Blouse—White knee trousers of same—Red silk sash and tassel, $7.50.

Blue Serge Blouse, eton collar, White Serge Pants, $10.00.

White Blouse, Lavender or Old Rose Knee Trousers of Rajah Silk, $5.50.

Blouses—Tan and White and Blue Pants in Galatea, $3.50.

BOYSS & BURL

PITTSBURGH, PA.

Osterburg

October 15—Mrs. Harry Lectes and two children, of Jersey City, N. J., are visiting friends here.

Mrs. Eckhart and son, of Altoona, were guests at the home of J. H. Moses recently.

Mrs. Effie Ake spent several days in Hollidaysburg not long since.

J. C. Messner of Lancaster and Lloyd Stauff of Pleasantville spent over Sunday with H. E. Mason and family.

Charles Oster has returned to Altoona, after a visit here.

W. A. Bior of Philadelphia was here on business several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Breneman and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Martin, of Altoona, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bowser, recently.

G. W. Blackburn of New Paris was here surveying several lots a few days ago.

Mrs. Bonnie Armhurst of Armhurst is visiting her parents at the Bazaar Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. White, Mr. and Mrs. Polk Mattern, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bowers, Misses Rebecca, Martha and Sarah Weissel and Mrs. H. O. Woolson, of Altoona, spent a pleasant day recently at the home of Mrs. George Ake.

Liveryman J. S. Bowser spent several days in Altoona recently with his daughter, Mrs. J. H. Martin.

"Waggles read a very thoughtful paper, don't you think?" "Yes, full of other people's thoughts."

EVERETT KEMP, INTERPRETER.

Everett Kemp, interpreter, has received ovations throughout this country which in enthusiasm and importance are second to none thus far chronicled in the Lyceum world. In fact, some of them are decidedly unique.

At Galley, N. M., for example, Mr. Kemp gave his rendition of J. G. Holland's beautiful story, "Sevenoaks." A few days later he received a letter of appreciation signed by clerks, engineers, a dentist, a well driller, a banker, a hostler, a coal dealer, a superintendent of schools and others. This letter, among other words of eulogy, said: "As a reader we have never heard him surpassed." The widely different occupations and professions represented among the signers illustrates Mr. Kemp's ability to reach every one in his audiences.

All who were at the International Lyceum Association Convention at Wilmona, Ind., in September, 1912, will recall his splendid presentation of "The Music Master." One entire evening of the association's program was given up to this rendition, and few features brought forth more hearty and sincere applause. Few audiences are more critical.

EVERETT KEMP, INTERPRETER.

Lyceumite and Talent magazine printed an entire page in February, 1912, on Mr. Kemp as the "Man With the Million Dollar Laugh" and referred to him as a permanent headliner.

Speaking of Mr. Kemp's laugh. It may be said that he is a natural born comedian and brings to his audiences that rare treat, pure fun. His humor is delicious. But he is not always laughing and making others laugh. His fine sympathetic nature, wide versatility and keen perception enables him to interpret the more serious side of life in a way to delight the popular as well as literary audience.

To meet Mr. Kemp is to be impressed that he has a consuming purpose.

This will be the first number of the B. H. S. Star Course and will be given in Assembly Hall next Thursday night, October 23.

Hurry and get your season tickets now on sale at Dull's Drug Store. $15 high class entertainments for $1.50; children, $1. Seats marked on and after Tuesday, the 21st.

New Paris

October 14—Mrs. Jerry Otto and Mrs. Harvey Mock spent last week with friends at Altoona.

Harry C. Mickel and family have moved from Altoona to our village and will make it their future home.

Wood, Harry, Warren and Parker Davis, of Pittsburgh, are visiting their parents at this place at present.

John Steele of near Johnstown was a business caller in our vicinity during the past few days.

Rev. A. F. Richards, who was assigned to this place as pastor of the Evangelical Church, has moved in the parsonage and delivered his first sermon Sunday morning. The reverend made a favorable impression on his audience.

The district Sunday School convention held at Bethel Church on October 4, was a success and was well attended. It was decided to hold the next convention at New Paris, Caj.

Medical Inspectors Appointed

Medical inspectors have been appointed for Bedford County as follows: Bedford and Everett Boroughs and Bedford and West Providence Townships, Dr. W. De la M. Hill, Everett; Broad Top and Liberty, Dr. A. R. Evans, Saxton; Mann's Choice and Colerain and Harrison Townships, Dr. W. F. Enfield, Bedford; Hopewell Borough and Hopewell Township, Dr. W. F. Rohm, Hopewell; Hyndman, Dr. D. T. Rees, Hyndman; Schellsburg and Juniata Township, Dr. Taylor Horne, New Paris; Pleasantville and Kimmel and Union Townships, Dr. H. A. Shimer, Alum Bank; St. Clairsville and King Township, Dr. S. Clarence Brumbaugh, Osterburg; Mann and Monroe, Dr. B. F. Hunt, Clearville; New Enterprise, independent district and South Woodbury, Dr. A. C. Dymond, New Enterprise; New Paris and Napier and West St. Clair Townships, Dr. H. I. Shoenthal, New Paris; Southampton, Dr. J. T. Smith, Chaneyville; Woodbury Borough, Dr. Irvin C. Stayer, Woodbury.

The Flower of the Day.
To this day the Italians call the orange portugal because they had this fruit first from Portugal.

Good Plan.

It is good to lengthen to the day a sunny word.—Lowell.

Centerville

October 15—The citizens of this community were shocked on Sunday when they learned of the death of Mrs. Harvey Elder at Cacy, Ill. In fact, she was made at Cacy. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Smith. Besides her husband, the following brothers and sisters survive: M. B. Smith of near Bedford, Mrs. Hugh McClintic of Ohio, Mrs. William Whip of Cumberland, Mrs. Levi Hardman, Joseph Reuben, Frederick and William, of the Valley. Mrs. George E. Sliger, a sister, died at Lancaster three years ago. Mrs. Jasper Elder and son William went to Cacy to attend the funeral.

S. S. Nave is in Cumberland on a business trip.

Members of the M. E. Church are treating their church to a coat of paint.

George E. Sliger had sale of his personal property on Saturday. He intends moving back to Lancaster.

Melville Whip and son, Freeman, of Point Marion, spent a couple days recently with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whip.

Charles Cessna of near Pittsburgh and sister, Mrs. William Cillum of Cumberland spent a few days recently with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Warmuth.

Mrs. William Deremer, two children and a lady friend, of York, Neb., are spending a few weeks with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Snowden.

Last Saturday night some person borrowed Joseph Smith's $80 gold watch and chain, and as yet has not returned it.

Point

October 14—John Horner, wife and son paid a visit to the family of Mrs. Horner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Otto, recently.

Jacob Miller and wife, of Ryot, paid a short visit to their daughter, Mrs. Irvin Earnest, and family, one day last week.

William Shaffer and family, of Johnstown visited his brother, Asa Shaffer, recently.

Thomas B. Nunnemaker and wife are visiting a daughter living in Ohio.

Mrs. Catherine Miller of Fishertown is the guest of the family of John Winegardner at present.

Compher Stuckey and wife, of Los Angeles, Cal., made a pleasant call on the family of R. C. Smith one day last week. Mr. Stuckey left old Napier twenty-five years ago, and is now one of the largest cattle raisers in the west. Mr. and Mrs. Smith were much pleased to have them call and to have them dine with them. Bob said that it seemed like old times.

Otto Emerick and family, of Johnstown, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Emerick, and also Harry Burns several days last week. Mr. Emerick returned to Johnstown on Sunday evening, leaving Mrs. Emerick to finish visiting her relatives and friends.

John Benna and family attended church at Point on Sunday and spent the balance of the day with the family of S. R. Slick.

Misses Carrie Claycomb and Edna Beckley and J. S. Claycomb, of near Cessna, visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Smith, several days last week.

Rev. Brickley will preach a missionary sermon in the Evangelical Church on Sunday evening, October 26. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

Hooker.

LUTHERANS GATHER

(Continued from First Page.)

Member to the Word" was the last topic discussed. W. W. Phillips discussed this topic briefly. Rev. Dr. Zinn was the last speaker and gave a more lengthy address in which he mentioned elements and practices which lessened the interest in the Word of God; among these mentioned was the secular Sunday newspaper which fills the mind with scenes not conducive to faithful hearing of the Word of God.

After the business of the convention was transacted the Committee Resolutions brought in their report in which they mentioned the firm conviction that we as a Lutheran Sunday School Convention do give our most earnest support to the great temperance cause; also referred to the splendid hospitality of the Lutheran Church of Bedford.

The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Hon. J. T. Matt; Vice President, Baltzer Snyder; Secretary, Miss Salinda Moses; Treasurer, W. W. Phillips; Executive Committee, Revs. J. J. Minemier, chairman, H. W. B. J. H. Zinn, D. D., E. W. Weand and J. H. Zinn, D. D.

Osterburg Lutheran Church extended an invitation for the convention of next year, which invitation was accepted to meet one year hence.

Thus closed one of the best conventions of the thirty-two held in this county. Nearly 2,000 scholars are enrolled in the Lutheran Sunday Schools of the county. The attendance of delegates and visitors from parts other than Bedford was over one hundred. The weather was perfect and the interest was intense.

MASTER'S SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Somerset County, Pennsylvania, Sitting in Equity, No. 2 Equity Docket, 1913. Between R. Edgar Leahy and William H. Cook, Jr., Plaintiffs, and Henry J. Wilmoth and Jennie Wilmoth, his wife; Mrs. Malinda Lafayette and Marcus D. Lafayette, her husband; Mary Carl and Daniel Carl, her husband; Albert W. Brinham and Wilhelmina Brinham, his wife; Gertrude Cook and A. J. Cook, Defendants.

The undersigned Master in Partition, appointed by the Court in above stated case, will expose at public sale on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1913, at one o'clock p. m., at the Court House in Somerset Borough, Pa., the following described real estate, to-wit:

Those two certain tracts or pieces of land situate, lying and being in the Township of Southampton, Somerset County, Pa., bounded and described separately as follows:

No. 1. Beginning at a post at the corner of the said tract and corner of land formerly of William Coombs, now of Frank Cooper, thence along the line of land of S. C. Fechtig Heirs, North 40 degrees East 340 perches to a post on the line of tract No. 2; thence North 30 degrees West 232.1 perches to a corner of said tract and tract No. 2; thence South 39 1/2 degrees West 203 perches to a chestnut on line of said land, formerly of William Coombs, now of Frank Cooper; thence South 34 1/2 degrees East 253.5 perches to a post, the place of beginning; containing 399 1/2 acres and allowance. Being the same tract which was warranted in the name of Alexander Adams.

No. 2. Beginning at a post at corner of said tract and tract No. 1; thence along line of S. C. Fechtig Heirs, North 40 degrees East 284.7 perches to a point, thence North 36 1/2 degrees West 226.1 perches to a point; thence South 39 1/2 degrees West 318 1/2 perches to a point on line of tract No. 1; thence along line of tract No. 1 South 22 degrees East 232.1 perches to a post, the place of beginning; containing 402 acres and allowance. Being the same tract of land warranted in the name of Catherine Weyman.

TERMS:—Ten per cent. of purchase price to be paid when property is knocked down; balance cash on confirmation of sale and delivery of deed.

F. A. HOLBERT, Master in Partition.

Note.—This property is underlain with valuable minerals, including coal and fire clay. The fire clay is opened and operated on adjoining land. It is also covered with virgin timber and the Western Maryland and B & O. Railroads run through said tracts of land.

17 Oct. 25.

Advertised Letters

Rudy Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Guthery, Mrs. Eliza Deffenbaugh; Cards: C. D. Whitmore, Howard Wertz, Walter W. Huley, Harry Walker, H. F. Benson, Walter Greavy, Theodore Gindlesperger, Charles Herservan, M. Zulekin, Henry Saxton, Browne Smith, R. L. Foster, Mrs. William Tulseron, Mrs. A. W. Reese, Miss Hattie Nicholson, Miss Pearl Ake, Miss Beatrice Harisoll, Miss Bayle, Miss Myra Haush, Miss Marguerite Stock.

W. J. Minnich, P. M.

Bedford, Pa., Oct. 17, 1913

St. John's Reformed Church

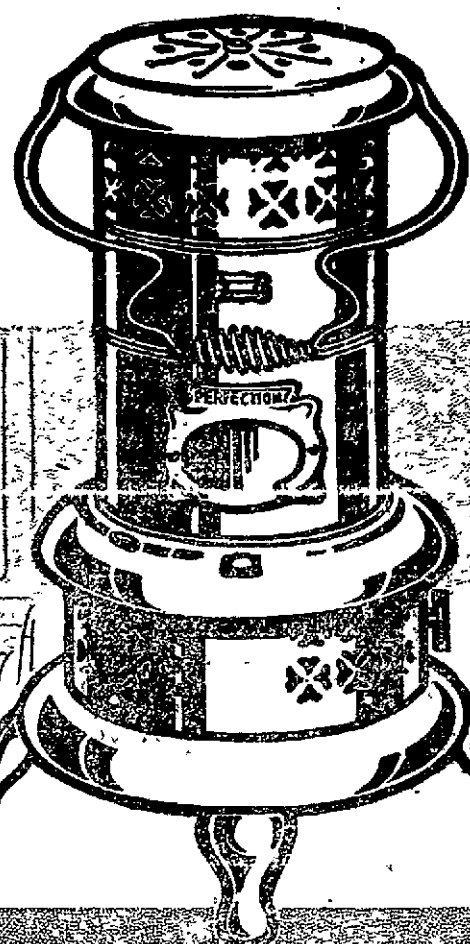

J. Albert Eyer, Pastor
Sunday, October 19—Divine worship 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning subject: "What Kept Moses Out of Canaan?" At 7:30 The Moral Issues of the Campaign for Associate Judge" will be the theme. You are cordially invited to be present.

From Early Morn till Late at Night

In the cold fall and blustering winter the Perfection Heater keeps your home warm and comfortable.

Early in the morning it chases the chill in the bed-room and from the breakfast-room. At night it warms the spare-room for the unforeseen guest—gives warmth where the ordinary heat does not go.

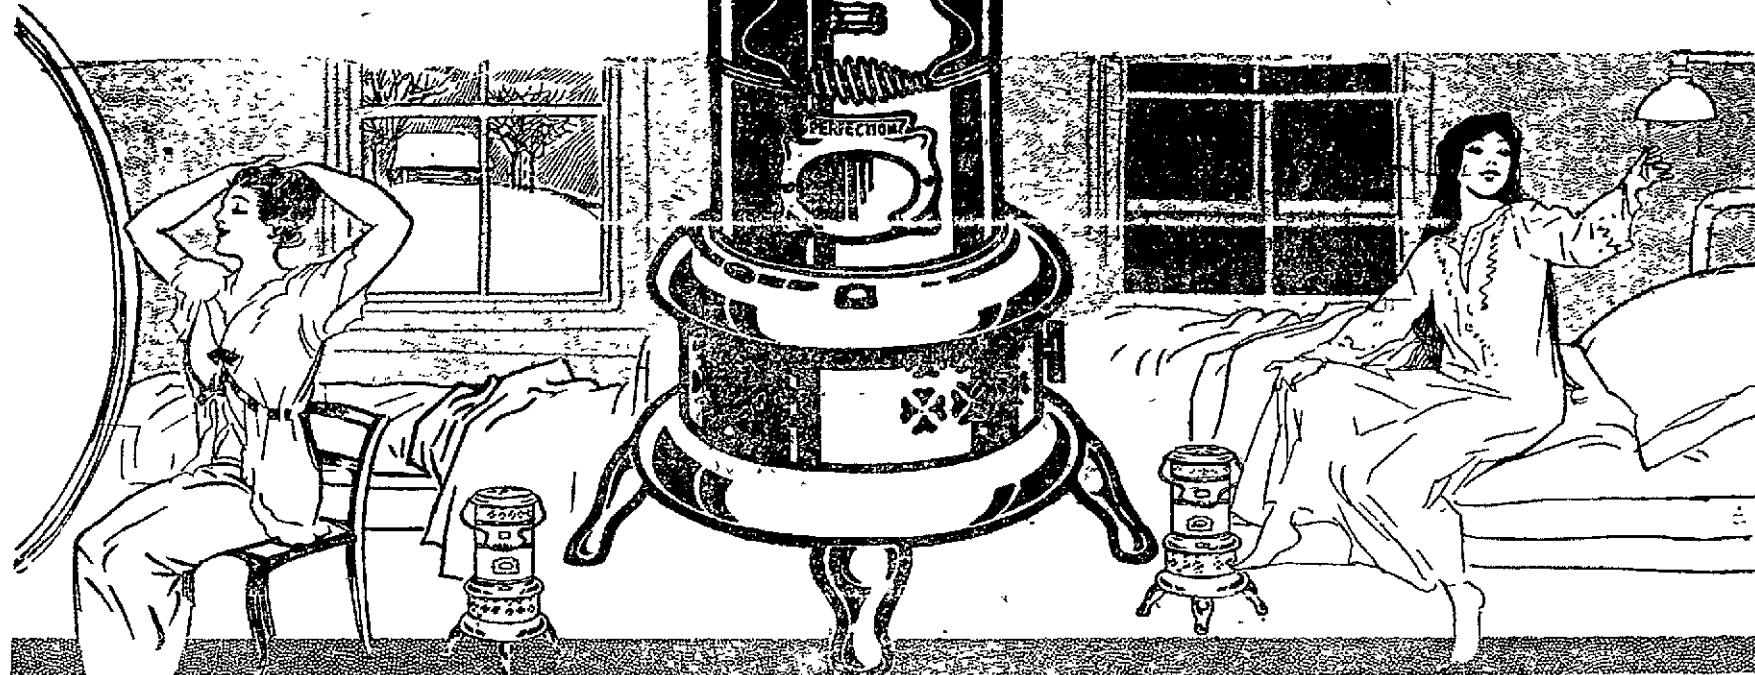

PERFECTION
SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER

The Perfection Heater is the safest, most efficient and most economical heater you will find.

Light, easy to handle, clean, durable and at the same time ornamental. See it at any dealer's; or write for descriptive circular.

The Atlantic Refining Company
Philadelphia Pittsburgh

HECKERMAN LETTER

What Horrible Fashions the Ladies Have Adopted.

Bedford, Pa., October 13—Last week I wrote you from Youngstown, O. Since then I have been hustling for business and I have had some of the crumbs that fell from the rich man's table. I met Dan Cessna and we had a very pleasant chat. I was in Altoona a few days ago; had an invite out for dinner and am sorry I could not accept.

My, what game one sees when he has no gun with him, and "as I have nil to do and wish to do it, I tout I would take my pen and bottle of ink in mine hand and typewrite you a few ladders. Please excuse dis lead panell. We are all well ad present except my brudder. He was kicked in de suburban's last nite by a mule. De mule is not expected to live. Your rich aunty who died from palipation of de hart when you was here is still deadt and doing nicely. Hope dis will find you de same. After she died dey found fifteen thousand dollars sewed up in an old bussell that she left behindt, so you, therefore, are no longer a poor man, but a dutch man. Your brudder did went to work dis morning. De job will last about six months but he might gitt out sooner on good behavior. Bissness has been everlasting slow and dull since you lefted us, especially the saloon bizness. Your wife was took to the insanity asylum yesterday.

If You Are One of Those Discriminating Men for Whom the Best is None Too Good, You Will Be Interested Immediately in Oppenheimer Superior Clothes

And if you belong to that larger class of men who must count the cost but who demand true value as expressed in style and service, you will insist upon having Oppenheimer Superior Clothes.

Oppenheimer Superior Suits and Overcoats for fall and winter are ahead of anything we have heretofore done, once more demonstrating the Oppenheimer leadership in medium-priced, ready-for-service clothes.

Through 53 years of intelligent endeavor to do things better, honest workmanship has become a habit with members of the Oppenheimer organization.

Only the most dependable materials are employed, but after all it is the spirit of thoroughness manifested at every stage of their production that gives to Oppenheimer Superior Clothes their greater value and their more distinguished appearance.

There is a dealer in your community who will be glad to show you the new fall and winter models. It will be worth your while to look him up.

Upon request we will send our illustrated Style Book, which contains a complete guide to correct apparel for all occasions.

Suits, $10 to $28 Overcoats, $10 to $30 Separate Trousers, $2 to $6

M. Oppenheimer & Co., Wholesale Exclusively

115-123 Seventh Street (Now Sandusky Street)

Pittsburgh, Pa.

INSURANCE CLAUSE

Every OPPENHEIMER garment is inspected rigidly and then offered for sale with ABSOLUTE INSURANCE against defect of any kind whatsoever. Should the slightest irregularity be discovered, the makers will correct it without argument, quibbling or delay.

She was crazy to see you. I saw your little boy this morning for de first time. I think he looks just like you, but he is all right otherwise. So I wood not worry about dat if I was in your place. I am sending you by Peter Leasure's express your obercote, and, as dey charge so much a pound to send it, I cut off de buttons. I hope dis will prove satisfaction. You will find de buttons in de inside pocket. I shust heerd dat you went and got married again last week and dot you got a pretty good wife. Is dat de one from Milo? I think you could have gotten a better one from Pigeon as they have a bigger stock to select from. Now as this is all I got to say I will klose my face and expect you to do the same. Now I hope dis will reach you before you get it and that you will answer it even before dat. I remain your kandy second to de last kousin,

"Yours Confectionately."

"P. S.—In case you do not get this letter, rite me and let me know and I will send it to you at oncedt." This is a copy of a letter recently found. Ask no questions.

Our housewives now gaze in wonderment at the numerous marks by rubber stamps on almost every package left at the side door by the grocer's boy. Many of them wonder what all the foolishness is about, as it was not thus in our grandparents' days, but they have nothing to fear for all these stamp marks are for the consumers' protection. For instance, the law does not allow the merchant to sell cold storage foods for fresh ones and this is especially so in meats and eggs. The Wilson Gans law says that eggs cannot be held in storage longer than eight months. Well, methinks that eggs to be held eight months would not be especially fresh, even if the speculator has had them turned over from side to side once every twenty-four hours as a means of preventing their settling to one or the other side.

I have often wondered where all the eggs came from and not till I went South did I know. The South sends trainloads of eggs in January, February and March. This cold storage law not only insures the busy housewife getting fresh eggs when she pays the price and cold storage eggs when she pays the price for this brand. There are twenty million eggs in cold storage and these, according to the new law, which went into effect August 14, must be sold within the next sixty days. Now if the speculators don't unload before December 14, they will find many thousands of dozens of eggs on their hands which they will be unable to sell. I look for a decline of ten cents a dozen between this and December.

Oh, what horrible fashions the ladies have adopted! Saw some during the past week that were anything but nice to Dad's idea. Dress skirts dragging on the ground mopping up the tobacco snipes and apple peelings that lie in their way, and the skirts so narrow that to board a street car is not an easy thing to do. However, the supreme rule of woman is fashion and her edicts are obeyed without a murmur. However, no man is so happy as he who knows no envy and no woman so miserable as she who is jealous.

Yours truly,
M. P. Heckerman

NO MORE RUNNING SORES

Ed. D. Heckerman Sells an Ointment Called San Cura That is a Positive Cure.

It matters not how old, persistent or poisonous the sore is, San Cura Ointment, the powerful antiseptic, will draw out every particle of poison and promptly heal the sore.

So sure of this are the owners, the Thompson Medical Co., that they have authorized Ed. D. Heckerman to return the purchase price if San Cura Ointment doesn't do all this paper says it will do. No fairer offer was ever made.

B. D. Dutton, Titusville, Pa., says: "My arm was covered with twenty-four running sores and swollen to twice its natural size. San Cura Ointment removed the pain, drew out the poison and healed the arm in an incredibly short time. It is the greatest compound for healing I ever used."

The mighty healing powers of San Cura Ointment are little short of marvelous. It gives instant relief, and is guaranteed to cure salt rheum, eczema, bleeding, itching or protruding piles, ulcers, boils, carbuncles, chapped hands, and chilblains. For cuts, burns, scalds and bruises, it stops all pain quickly and heals promptly. 25c and 50c a jar. By mail on receipt of price, if your druggist is out of it or does not keep it.

San Cura Soap For tender, itching or irritable skin, wash with San Cura, the only antiseptic soap that soothes and heals, and kills all germs of disease. It will cure pimples, blackheads, and make the complexion clear and attractive. 25c at Ed. D. Heckerman's.

Mail orders for San Cura Ointment and Soap filled by Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa.

Advertisement.

Search That Never Ends.

Ignorance may find a truth on its doorstep that erudition vainly seeks in the stars.

Shopping for Wife.

Talk about a bull in a china shop; a man at the corset counter is more out of place.

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of the authority contained in the last will and testament of William G. Jones, late of Bedford Borough, Bedford County, Pennsylvania, deceased, the undersigned executor will expose to public sale, on the premises, being No. 540 South Richard Street, Bedford Borough, on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1913, at 10:30 o'clock a. m., the mansion property of said decedent, consisting of a lot of ground in Bedford Borough, having thereon erected a new, strictly modern frame house, and stable.

Terms:—Ten per cent. cash or secured on day of sale, balance of one-half on delivery of deed and remainder in one year from delivery of deed, with interest.

FRANKLIN JONES, Executor.

Oct. 3-8t.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between A. J. Himes and John C. Nicholson, of Six Mile Run, Bedford County, Pa., under the firm name of Himes and Nicholson, under which they conducted a general store at Six Mile Run, was dissolved on the 1st day of October, 1913, by mutual consent. The business will hereafter be conducted by A. J. Himes, who purchased the interests of his partner, John C. Nicholson.

All debts due to the said partnership are to be paid to said A. J. Himes and all debts due from the partnership will be settled and paid by him, and he solicits a continuance of the general patronage accorded the firm.

A. J. HIMES,
JOHN C. NICHOLSON.

10 Oct. 4t

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE

[Estate of John W. May, late of Bedford Borough, Bedford County, Pa., deceased.]

Letters testamentary on the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make prompt payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to

JOHN M. MAY,
JOHN N. MINNICH, Executor,
Attorney, Glassport, Pa.
Oct. 10-6t.

ADMINISTRATRIX' NOTICE

[Estate of Samuel A. Van Ormer, late of Bedford Borough, Bedford County, Pa., deceased.]

Letters of administration on the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make prompt payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to

EDNA M. VAN ORMER,
Administratrix,
FRANK E. COLVIN, Bedford, Pa.
Attorney, Sept. 19-6t.

ADMINISTRATORS' NOTICE

[Estate of Andrew J. Diehl, late of Colerain Township, Bedford County, Pa., deceased.]

Letters of administration on the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make prompt payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to

MARTIN A. DIEHL,
DAVID F. HARTLERODE,
Administrators.
FRANK E. COLVIN, Bedford, Pa.
Attorney, Oct. 3-6t.

ASSIGNEE'S NOTICE

[Assigned Estate of George W. Barton of Coaldale Borough.]

Notice is hereby given that George W. Barton of Coaldale Borough, Bedford County, Pennsylvania, has made a general assignment in trust for the benefit of creditors to the undersigned. All persons indebted to the said George W. Barton are requested to make prompt payment and those having claims to present them properly probated without delay to the undersigned.

ARTHUR S. RUSSELL,
SIMON H. SELL, Assignee,
Attorney, Bedford, Pa.
Bedford, Pa. Oct. 3-6t.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Get Ready for the Corn Show

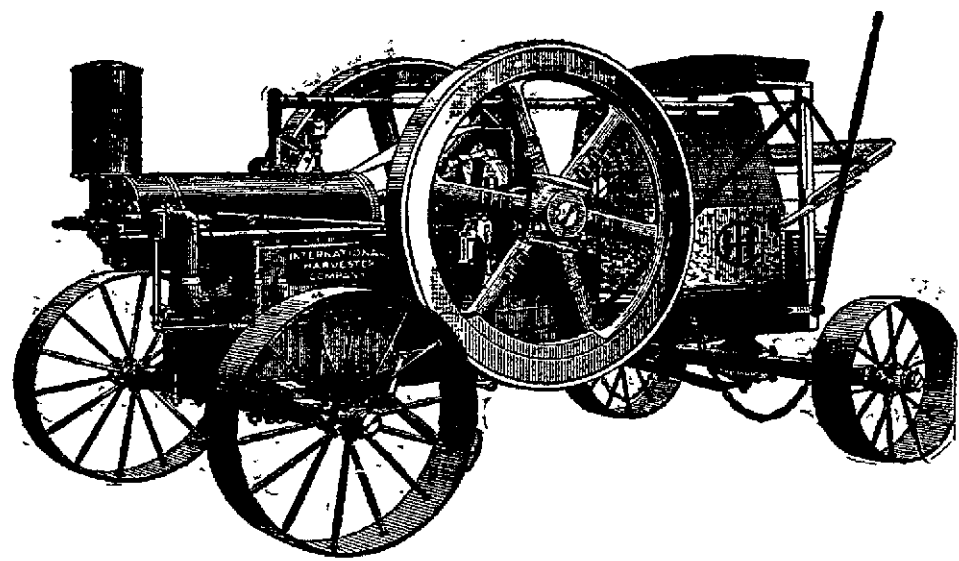

The annual Corn Show of The Pennsylvania Livestock Breeders' Association will be held the third week in January at York, Pa., in connection with the meetings of The Pennsylvania Livestock Breeders' Association, the Horticultural Association and the Dairy Union. This is the big show of the state and every farmer should have it in mind when he husks his corn and should select the best ears from which an exhibit of ten ears can later be made. Medals, cups and cash prizes will be awarded in the various classes. In the past years exhibitors from Chester and Green Counties have won more prizes than those of any other. This year the farmers of the state should show these exhibitors that these two counties are not the only ones on the map. Winners of two first prizes in previous shows will show in special classes this time, giving the new men a better chance.

For premium list and entry blank address C. E. Myers, Secretary of Plant Section, State College, Pennsylvania

"My child was burned terribly about the face, neck and chest. I applied Dr. Thomas' Eucletic Oil. The pain ceased, and the child sank into a restful sleep."—Mrs. Nancy M. Hanson, Hamburg, N. Y.

Adv.

The Engines We Sell ARE BUILT IN OVER 120 Different Styles & Sizes

I. H. C. Engines are noted for their remarkable simplicity, perfect balance, big surplus power over rating, smooth running, and durability. Every Engine we sell is thoroughly tested before it leaves the factory, and we stand ready to add our guarantee to that of the manufacturer. Put an I. H. C. gasoline or oil engine on your farm and it will take the place of a man.

H. ELLIS KOONTZ,

The Implement Man Bedford, Pa.

Our soiled EVENING DRESS, GOWN, WRAP, FUR, SLIPPERS, GLOVES, OR ANY OTHER ARTICLE OF APPAREL thoroughly cleansed and re-finished like new by our SUPERIOR METHODS not only brings SATISFACTION to the wearer, but adds hygienic COMFORT as well.

FOOTER'S DYE WORKS
AMERICA'S GREATEST AND BEST CLEANERS AND DYERS
W. C. McCLINTIC, Authorized Agent.

Bedford Urban Mutual Fire Ins. Co., Bedford, Pa.

President CAPT. ELI EICHELBERGER
Manager JOHN P. CUPPETT
DIRECTORS
PATRICK HUGHES
THOS. EICHELBERGER
G. S. KEGARISE
C. D. BRODE
FRED S. COOK
J. S. GUYER
ED. D. HECKERMAN
SIMON F. WHETSTONE

Insurance in Force, One Million Dollars. YOUR PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

Make our office your home when in Bedford. Insurance at actual cost. Losses adjusted and promptly paid. Fire of G. C. Grove, Grafton, Pa., January 16; adjusted January 17; paid January 18; amount $79.59; Mr. Grove entirely satisfied. Let us have your insurance. The management promises you fair treatment.

JOHN P. CUPPETT, Manager.

WE WANT LUMBER

and will contract with portable mill operators for their entire cut.
WE PAY CASH
when stock is loaded and can always furnish cutting orders to suit your timber.
Write us and we will send one of our men to explain our plan of doing business

AMERICAN LUMBER & MFG. CO. Pittsburgh, Pa.

W. H. SEARS, M. D., Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat

HUNTINGDON, PA.

AT BEDFORD, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1913.

Can be seen at Huntingdon on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturday.

A Penrose Boomerang
Of course the persons responsible for holding up the repair and maintenance work on the highways of the state to the great inconvenience of the public, thought they were playing smart politics. They were, they thought making capital for the constitutional amendment to authorize a public loan of $50,000,000 for road making to be voted for in November. It was expected that all the stoppage of work on the plea that there was no money available to pay for it, would incline the people to vote for the $50,000,000 loan.
But unfortunately for the persons who concocted and put this plan into operation, Auditor General Powell in statements published in the Patriot last week showed that the want of money is not the particular reason for the hold up, but that politics was at the bottom of it. The scheme therefore is acting as a boomerang and damaging the cause that it was expected to help. The claim that has been made by the interested advocates of the $50,000,000 loan that sufficient money cannot be appropriated out of current revenues for state road building was exploded by Mr. Powell in the same statements when he shows that since 1911 nearly twelve and one-half million dollars has been made available for use by the State Highway Department or more than four and a half million dollars a year.

This amount can be increased very much by continuing the work which Auditor General Sisson began in revising the assessments of public service corporations and requiring them to pay to the state the amounts that are lawfully due from them.

Taus can be appropriated out of current revenues all the money that can be economically expended in road building, without the people burdening themselves with an enormous debt for improvements that are not permanent and will not be until we are able to build better roads than have been built by Highway Commissioner Bigelow or any of his official predecessors.—Harrisburg Patriot.

Last Known Survivor of Tribe.
Andrew Harrison of New Britain, Conn., is the last known survivor of the Mohican tribe of Indians.

All That Happened.
"Lo, Jim! Fishin' in the Woods!"
"Lo, Jim! Fishin' in the Woods!"

POLITICAL POINTERS

Items of Interest Picked Up From Our Many State Exchanges

BIGGER MILLS, MORE WORK

People Favor Good Roads but Will Resist Issuance of Bonds for Use of Present Highway Department.

"The High Road," one of the best of late plays was not written by Mr. Bigelow, though some of the Bigelow roads were high enough.—Allentown City Item.

+++
The organization of the Republican state committee shows that the party is again in full control of Penrose and McNichol and the big and little luminaries are again happy.—Montrose Democrat.

+++
The Republicans of this state have had such a dish of crow for the past year that their state committee at Harrisburg last week saw fit to thrust the chairmanship upon a man of that name.—Huntingdon Monitor.

+++
A straight party vote this election will vote for all the party nominees not only for county offices, but for borough and ward offices, as well. The amendments must each be marked separately.—Carlisle Sentinel.

+++
The machine gang is sending boiler plate to the country papers boasting for the $50,000,000 road fund which they hope to get their clutches on, and the dutiful little organs are inserting the stuff to fool the people. A reader can't have a very exalted opinion of a newspaper that lends itself to so barefaced a scheme to plunder the people.—DuBois Daily Express.

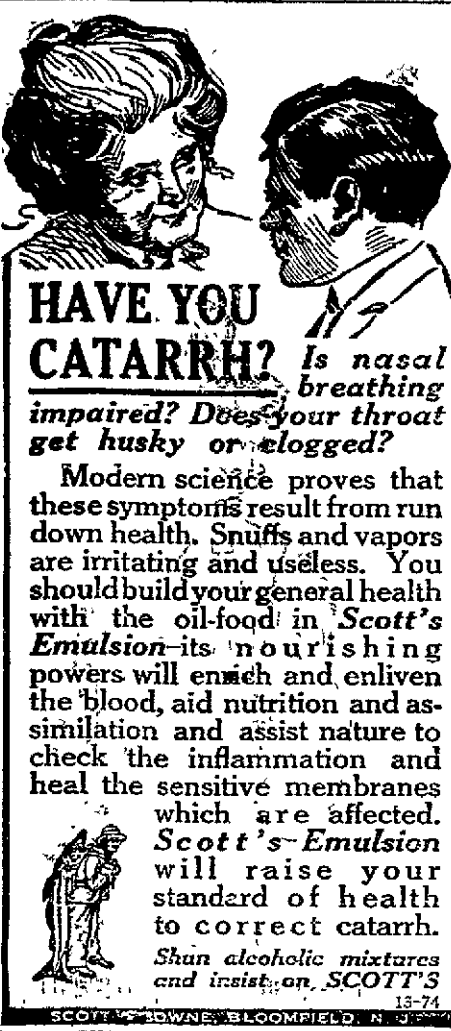

+++
Senator Penrose was twitting Senator Simmons for his position on the tariff. "He has gone back," said Mr. Penrose, "and I have gone forward." "If the Senator moved at all," replied the North Carolinian, "he would have to go forward. He was as far back as he could get." Even the Congressional Record is sometimes worth reading.—Allentown City Item.

+++
Because of differences that have arisen between the machine forces in the Highway Department of the state and the Auditor General over the distribution of a small amount of the highway fund available, everything in connection with the work or that department has stopped except the drawing of salaries. It might be well for the machine and its forces in that department to explain to the people of the state prior to the actual vote on the amendment to authorize borrowing $50,000,000 whether the money is wanted to spread the salaries over a little period or whether some actual work on the roads is in contemplation.—Easton Argus.

+++
President Wilson can be depended upon to do what is right in the matter of civil service as applied to the selection of U. S. Marshals and Internal Revenue deputies. The President is a sincere believer in civil service and was elected on a platform committed to that policy. At the same time his devotion to civic matters is not of the kind that is unable to discriminate between true reform and that for effect only. We believe the country may safely entrust the whole question to the President and abide by his decision. He has studied the matter for many years and since his inauguration has exhibited admirable self-control and judgment in his appointments as well as in his general control of patronage. If convinced that the best interests of the country will suffer by the exemption of certain offices from the civil service rules, the President unhesitatingly will disapprove it.—Carlisle Sentinel.

+++
It is pointed out in connection with the criticism of the State Highway Department that it is not unlikely that a scandal may be unearthed by the controversy between Commissioner Bigelow and Auditor General Powell. It was only when an officer friendly to the administration was elected that the capitol graft was exposed. Conditions are now somewhat similar, and politicians are said to be looking for some thing to happen. If it does the public will be greatly enlightened about the workings of the Highway Department.

However capable Mr. Bigelow may be, it is beyond dispute that his department has not shown results. The roads built have cost too much and have not given the necessary wearing qualities. The awarding of contracts on a percentage basis of which Senator McNichol with the beneficiary was bad policy. Politics has characterized the administration of the office; road supervisors or superintendents in this and other counties were apparently appointed for political reasons and the whole department characterized by political considerations. All this has a direct bearing on the question of a fifty-million dollar loan. The Highway Department is not in shape to handle it. Bigelow may resign and Tener's term expire, but even at that there is no assurance that the same old machine will not continue to dominate through another Governor it can control.—Carlisle Sentinel.

Modern science proves that these symptoms result from run down health. Snuffs and vapors are irritating and useless. You should build your general health with the oil food in Scott's Emulsion—its nourishing powers will enrich and enliven the blood, aid nutrition and assimilation and assist nature to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes which are affected. Scott's Emulsion will raise your standard of health to correct catarrh. Shun alcoholic mixtures and insist on SCOTT'S.

Bigger Mills, More Workers

These are sad days for calamity howlers, like the local origin of the Penrose machine. The facts are all against them. Their doleful predictions are brought to naught.

Instead of there being no demand for goods of home manufacture, orders were never heavier at this time of year than they are now. Instead of closing down their mills and discharging their workers, manufacturers are enlarging their plants and preparing to take on more help. A specimen case was reported in the Philadelphia Ledger yesterday. One of the leading industries of Chester, about thirteen miles from Philadelphia, on the Delaware River, is the manufacture of textile fabrics by the Aberfoyle Manufacturing Company, whose plant is one of the largest of the kind in the whole country. But it isn't big enough to meet the demands upon it, therefore this company is building an extensive addition to enlarge the mercerizing and winding departments in which cotton yarns are treated for hosiery and underwear knitters, whose mills are running to capacity.

The Public Ledger yesterday quoted a representative of the Aberfoyle Company as saying: "We are sold up for months ahead. The demand upon us was never so pressing. While the tariff bill was pending knit goods dealers bought very cautiously, not knowing when the bill was to go into effect, or what the reductions might be. Now that the tariff bill is settled, everybody with lean stocks is buying, and knitting mills which withheld orders for years are all coming at once and want yarn right away."

This representative of a great manufacturing concern said that the new buildings the company is erecting are very large and will give work to many more employees than the company has had in the past. In the same article the Public Ledger said that manufacturers of agricultural implements are clamoring for improved transfer and terminal facilities in Philadelphia.—Harrisburg Patriot.

+++
There is pending the proposal to vote on $50,000,000 in bonds in the November election and the beneficent plan is clouded by distrust of the Highway Department, under Mr. Bigelow's administration. A few people are opposed to good roads because they cost money, and this same element, which is consistently against nearly every step in the path of progress, may be disregarded.

There is, however, another considerable element which must be reckoned with. They favor good roads and progress, but they will resist the issuance of bonds because they are not willing to entrust the money or the work to the present Highway Department. Complaint is made that the department has been inept, shiftless and unintelligent; that the roads cost more than they should; that the money is wasted; in a word, that Mr. Bigelow does not know what he is doing, and can render no clear account of his stewardship, and that politics have invaded his office.

The defense is that these charges are made for political effect. It would be scandalous should Mr. Bigelow be made a vicarious victim in a political controversy; it would be equally scandalous provided Mr.

Bigelow is inefficient, to permit him to defeat the great cause of good roads in this state, which not only needs and desires modern highways but is able to pay for them.

Let Mr. Bigelow give an intelligent account of his stewardship. He is not engaged in a private enterprise; he is the servant of the public, expending its funds. If he can justify his administration he should be sustained; if he is unfit, lethargic, behind the times, he should preemptorily be asked to relinquish his post.

Too much depends upon the issue to permit any paltering for if the people shall not be convinced that good highways are being built at a reasonable cost, they will scarcely place more power in the hands of the present stewards.—Public Ledger.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

ALLEGHENY SYNOD

Of the Lutheran Church Holds Seventy-Third Annual Convention.

The 73rd annual convention of the Allegheny Synod of the Lutheran Church which opened its sessions in Trinity Lutheran Church, Berlin, Thursday evening, October 2, came to a close the following Monday morning with the re-election of the following officers: President, Rev. L. P. Young of Elklick; Vice President, Rev. H. S. Rhoads of Johnstown; Secretary, Rev. G. F. Snyder of Altoona; Statistical Secretary, Rev. H. W. Bender of Schellsburg; Treasurer, Walter B. Miller of Altoona.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Clearfield, Pa., beginning the first Thursday in October, 1914. A committee was appointed to investigate charges filed against Rev. Paul Ketterman of Lilly, Cambria County. The committee did not report at this convention.

The Rev. H. H. Flick of Glasgow, Cambria County; the Rev. Charles G. Aurand of Altoona, and the Rev. E. F. Rice were ordained, while Newton Swank of Johnstown was licensed to preach.

The several addresses delivered on the various topics assigned were very interesting and edifying and brought out many valuable points along the special lines of church work under discussion, while the several sermons delivered during the sessions of Synod proved able discourses that were listened to with much interest by all.

The session Sunday-afternoon was featured by memorial services for Revs. G. M. Pile, G. C. Probst, B. B. Collins, Samuel Crider and J. A. Dunlap.

At this session of Synod the total membership was reported to be 19,973, while the total amount given for benevolences for the year was $30,850. The total amount contributed by Synod in 1890 for benevolence was $9,584 and the amount in 1901 was $13,352. In 1890 the total membership was 12,162 and in 1901 it had grown to 15,580. In 1890 the total number of communicants in the Johnstown and Altoona churches alone was 2,226; in 1901, 3,434, and in 1913, 6,220. The largest growth in the other churches outside of Johnstown and Altoona occurred in Berlin, Somerset, Meyersdale and Huntingdon, while in all the rural districts there was a noticeable decrease.

The Synod was one of the most successful that has been held in recent years. A large majority of the churches were represented and a number of important matters were given attention.

Hives, eczema, itch or salt rheum sets you crazy. Can't bear the touch of your clothing. Doan's Ointment is fine for skin itching. All druggists sell it, 50c a box. Adv.

SENT HIMSELF BY MAIL

One Use to Which the Parcel Post in England May Be Put.

An Englishman wished to reach a customer living in a remote part of Balham, one of the suburbs of London, and it was very urgent that he find him quickly.

Knowing nothing of the locality, he called at St. Martin le Grand to consult a directory. Stating his case to a clerk, he was amazed to learn that he could be sent to the address by parcel post by paying a fee of three pence a mile. The gentleman had never heard of such a thing, and it is said that very few in England know that it can be done.

Accepting the offer, the gentleman was placed in charge of a messenger familiar with all parts of the city and was soon on his way. The boy carried a printed slip on which was written a description of the "parcel" in charge, under the heading, "Article required to be delivered," and before leaving the customer's house both the customer and the gentleman were required to place their signatures on the paper.

The limit to weight for anything delivered by parcel post in England is generally understood to be eleven pounds, but there is one clause which reads, "A person may be conducted by express messenger to any address on payment of postage fee"—Argonaut

White Flame
Full, clear—never flickers
FAMILY FAVORITE
The Best Lamp Oil
At Your Dealers.
For the sake of the family's eyes.
FREE—320 page book—all about oil.
WAVERLY OIL WORKS CO.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Gasoline Lubricants

For Sale
One of the most desirable houses in Bedford. Brick dwelling, 10 rooms, modern improvements, good stable rear of dwelling.

Houses always for rent.
TATE & CESSNA
Real Estate Agents
Room 7, Ridenour Block
BEDFORD, PENNA.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS
THE DIAMOND BRAND.
Largest and most famous of all pills.
Pills in Red and Gold metallic boxes, sealed with the Diamond Brand.
Take no other. Buy of your Druggist. Ask for CHICHESTER'S PILLS. They are the only pills known as Best, Safest, Always Reliable.
SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

OVER 65 YEARS' EXPERIENCE
Scientific American
A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms, $1 a year; four months, $1. Sold by all news-dealers.
MUNN & Co 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 255 F St., Washington, D.C.

J. REED IRVINE
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE
Life, Fire, Accident and Health Insurance
Why not get the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company's proposition at your age? We have no fear of comparison. "It's the Policy Holder's Company."

HUNTINGDON AND BROAD TOP MOUNTAIN RAILROAD
In Effect May 25, 1913.

NORTH STATIONS.		SOUTH STATIONS.
P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	A. M.
4:30	4:00	Bedford	Ar. a. m. p. m.
4:47	4:20	Mt. Dallas	9:20 7:20
4:50	4:23	Everett	9:14 7:16
4:57	4:30	Tatesville	9:05 7:07
5:06	4:39	Cyber	8:56 6:57
5:16	4:49	Hopewell	8:47 6:48
5:21	4:54	Riddelsburg	8:42 6:44
5:34	5:07	Saxton	8:29 6:32
4:30	7:30	Dudley	8:29 7:05
4:45	7:45	Coalmont	9:00 6:50
5:00	8:00	Saxton	8:33 6:50
5:34	10:07	Saxton	8:29 6:32
5:44	10:17	Cove	8:18 6:20
5:49	10:22	Hummel	8:14 6:16
5:58	10:31	Stricken	8:00 6:11
6:03	10:37	Martlesburg	8:01 6:01
6:07	10:41	Brumbaugh	7:50 5:50
6:16	10:46	Grafton	7:32 5:32
6:22	10:52	McConnelsburg	7:48 5:48
6:25	11:00	Huntingdon	7:40 5:40

Bedford Special
Leaves Huntingdon at 2 p. m., arriving at Bedford at 3:57 p. m. Huntingdon Special leaves Bedford at 1:50 p. m. and arrives at Huntingdon at 3:45 p. m. (Week days only).

PENNA. AND B. & H. R. R.
Daily (Sunday Included)

P. M.	A. M.	P. M.	A. M.
3:30	7:35	Lumb.	11:05 7:10
3:50	8:05	Hyudman	10:35 6:38
4:25	8:57	Bedford	9:47 6:50
6:10	10:45	Altoona	8:00 4:05

Wants Just a Taste.
Even when a man prays for delivery from temptation he is telling himself that it isn't going to hurt him to take a look at it.

Now Name for "Central."
We know of an excited German who rushed to the telephone, seized the receiver and shouted: "Hello, hello! Is this the middle?"

Duty We Often Neglect.
There is no duty we so neglect under-rate as the duty of being happy.—R. L. Stevenson.

Minority Win.
Some do the right thing at the wrong time, many do the wrong thing at the right time, and a few do the right thing at the right time.

In writing to advertisers kindly mention the fact that you saw their ad in The Gazette.

Best Rug Store in Central Penna.
Largest Stock, Best Assortment.
All Sizes. Lowest Prices.
Pate's Rug & Furniture Store,
Bedford, Penna.
WE SELL FOR LESS
WE SELL FOR CASH
ONE PRICE TO ALL

BIG LOAF FLOUR

IS FOR SALE BY THE FOLLOWING MERCHANTS IN BEDFORD AND VICINITY.

England & Diehl, Bedford, Pa.
 A. Covalt, Bedford, Pa.
 V. A. Stuft, Imber, Pa.
 Jacob B. Potts, Alum Bank, Pa.
 Harry Oldham, Alum Bank, Pa.
 Thos. D. Croyle, Osterburg, Pa.
 A. L. Ickes, Osterburg, Pa.
 Jordan Blackburn, Ryot, Pa.
 H. S. McCreary, Point, Pa.
 W. J. Shoenthal, New Paris, Pa.
 A. J. Crissman, New Paris, Pa.
 H. L. Hull, Springhope, Pa.
 Andrew Dibert, Claysburg, Pa.
 Farmers' Eureka Store Co., Weyant, Pa.
 Ickes & Claycomb, Weyant, Pa.
 William H. Moore, Hellville, Pa.
 W. S. Ickes, Reynoldsdale, Pa.
 Mrs. T. E. Berkheimer, Fishertown, Pa.

ELIAS BLACKBURN
 Wholesale Distributor
 FISHERTOWN, PA.

GEO. H. LUM, DuBois, Pa.
 Manufacturers' Agent for Pennsylvania

PERSONAL NOTES (Continued From First Page.)

Messrs. J. Howard Taylor of New Paris, P. H. M. Pensyl and J. E. Reighard, of Bedford Township; Alexander Diehl of Friend's Cove and W. A. Shaffer of Pavia called at our sanctum while in town last Saturday.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Sell, who has again been commissioned as District Deputy Grand Matron of the Eastern Star, gave Delphi Chapter of Altoona an official visit on Thursday for special instructions to officers and a rehearsal.

Bedford M. E. Church
 G. W. Faus, Pastor
 Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning subject: "Laborers Together With God"; evening subject: "A Non-Partisan, Moral Issue and its Challenge to the Christian Citizenship of our Country." Men especially are invited to this service. Whatever your views, come and hear a candid discussion of this question on its merits, and in the light of Christian principles. There will be special music, and a cordial welcome for all.

Friend's Cove Reformed Church
 Walter C. Pugh, Pastor
 Saturday, October 18, at 10 a. m. Preparatory services at the Brick Church. Sunday, October 19, Sunday School at 9 a. m.; Holy Communion at 10 a. m., at the Brick Church. At Trinity, Sunday School at 9 a. m., and at Rainsburg at 9:30 a. m. Saturday afternoon, October 18, the pastor desires to meet the boys and girls of the Brick Sunday School at the parsonage. Sunday, October 26, Sunday School at the Brick at 9 a. m., and at Rainsburg at 9:30 a. m. Preparatory service and the Holy Communion at 10:30 a. m. at Rainsburg. Divine services at the Trinity Church at 1:30 p. m. and Sunday School at 2:30 p. m. Sunday School Convention at the Brick Church on Thursday, October 23, afternoon and evening.

Lewis F. Dorn
 The funeral services of the late Lewis Frederick Dorn, who was almost instantly killed when struck by a train near Glencoe last week, were held this week in the Hyndman United Evangelical Church, Rev. Benson of Fairhope officiating. Interment was made in the Hyndman Cemetery.
 The deceased, who was in his 65th year, is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. G. B. Burchmahl of Uniontown, one brother, C. H. Dorn of Hyndman and one sister, Mrs. Mary Williams, of Pittsburgh.

Wanted, For Sale, For Rent, Etc.,

RATES—One cent per word for each insertion. No advertisement accepted for less than 15 cents.

Wanted—A lady or gentleman to represent the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. Apply 122 N. Centre St., Cumberland, Md. 23Mti

The Best Dry Battery on Earth for gasoline engines, automobiles and gas lighting machines at Heckerman's Drug Store, Bedford, Pa.

For Sale—Large meat hoghead, crout stand, 40-gallon range boiler, new, with fixtures; will sell cheap. S. F. Stiver, Bedford, Pa.

Dr. Gump wants to employ two good, reliable young men to work for him from now until the first of April or longer; good wages paid.

For Sale—Range in good condition, used with or without water attachment. Will sell cheap. Mrs. A. Knfield, Bedford, Pa.

Lost—Bunch of keys, ring contained 4 Yale keys, other keys, shoe button and a beer bottle opener. John F. Stader, 211 Main Street, Latrobe, Pa. 10 Oct. 2t.

For Sale—After November 1, one registered Hampshire Down Buck, 2 years old; also five ewes. County phone. G. A. Carpenter, R. D. 1, Mann's Choice, Pa. Oct. 3-3t.

For Sale—Service boars from large English Berkshires that got the blue ribbons at the Fair; also choice bred pigs. Warren C. Holderbaum, New Paris, Pa. 17 Oct. 4t.

I have in stock Fall and Winter Millinery, Ladies' Coats, Sweaters, Underwear, Hosiery, Notions and 5 and 10 cent goods. M. C. Blackburn, New Paris, Pa.

Sweet Cascarin operates gently on the bowels, without pain, and do not leave you constipated. 10c a package of 12 tablets at Heckerman's Drug Store.

We have put in stock and will continue to carry a complete line of photographic supplies, films, plates, etc. Ed. D. Heckerman, the Druggist.

Until Saturday, October 18th, the McCreary Studio will continue to make one 8x10 carbon picture free, of all children not over five years of age.

For Sale—Two-horse low wagon, 4-inch tires, used only a few weeks; also 800 feet of black walnut boards. Mrs. Jasper N. Drenning, Bedford, Rt. 3.

Wanted—Young man to train in as Time Keeper and Pay Roll Clerk at Earlston Furnace Office. Must be neat, quick and accurate at figures, and willing to work. Apply to J. E. Thropp, Jr., General Manager, Everett, Pa.

Lost—Thursday morning, September 25, at Bedford between the post-office and the National Hotel lady's Tiffany Diamond Ring. A liberal reward will be paid the finder by returning same to J. Floyd Murdock, Bedford, Pa. Oct. 3-3t.

Wanted—All your discarded temperance and religious papers for mission work. Thousands of parents on the frontier with large families and limited means and no church or Sunday School privileges applying to our Mission for free literature. Write for one or more names and full particulars. The Paper Mission, Woodward, Oklahoma.

SALE REGISTER

All persons having sale bills printed at this office get a free notice in the sale register. This is worth several times the price of the bills.

Arthur Ball will sell the following personal property at his residence on the Daniel Wolford farm in Milligan's Cove on Wednesday, October 23, at 1 o'clock p. m.: Bay mare, 3 cows, 6 head of young cattle, farm implements, wagon, harness, oats and many other articles.

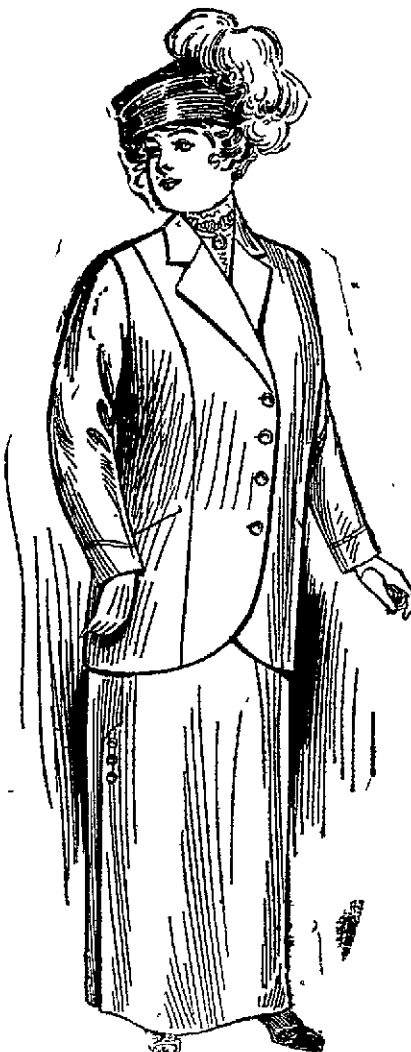

At 1 o'clock p. m., on Thursday, October 23, C. R. Pensyl will sell the following personal property at his residence, two miles south of Bedford. Bay horse, 2 mules, 2 hogs, 2 shoats, 5 wagons, 2 buggies, runabout, farming implements, gears, harness, kettles, cornfodder, seed potatoes, blacksmith and wagonmaker tools and many other articles.

On Saturday, October 25, at 10 o'clock a. m., J. E. Evans will sell the entire furnishings of the Waverly Hotel, Bedford, which consists of oak bedroom suits, sectional hair mattresses, spiral springs, bedding of all kinds, carpets, linoleum, refrigerator, kitchen utensils, 2 stoves, tables, chairs, curtains, office table, cash register, bar fixtures, set of fans, vertical steam engine, butchering tools, silverware, chinaware and many other articles.

On Saturday, October 25, at 10 o'clock a. m., William Wentz will sell the following personal property at his residence at Pavia: Horse, 3 cows, heifer, 2 calves, 3 hogs, 7 pigs, wagon, buggy, bob sleds, farming implements, harness, hay, cornfodder, corn, potatoes, lot of household goods, consisting of range, 3 stoves, organ, bedroom suit, cooking utensils, steam separator, lawn swing, graphophone, 2 guns and many other articles.

At Juniata Mills, Juniata Township, R. L. Ryan and M. L. Hannan, executors of the late A. E. Ryan, will sell the following personal property on Saturday, November 1, at 1 o'clock p. m.: Wagon, traction engine, dump cart, blacksmith and carpenter tools, cream separator, 3 kettles, 4 stoves, wardrobes, bed lounge, chairs, bedsteads, mattresses, springs, bed clothing, 3 tables, lot of carry and mending; brood sow and 11 shoats, average weight about 75 pounds.

The Right Merchandise at the Right Prices

New Coats, Coat Suits

Another New Lot just in. When you visit our ready-to-wear Department you'll agree with us that no more complete showing of stylish wearing apparel for women can be found in Bedford. Prices, too, will at once impress you as being decidedly moderate.

NEW FURS

If you are at sea as to the snappiest styles, most up-to-date minute shapes and best colors, and really want the choicest values your money can buy, call and look over our line of new FURS just received this week.

Floor Coverings

Carpet, Matting, Oil Cloth and Linoleum to suit all Pocket-books. Velvet, Axminster, Body Brussels, Tapestry and Crex Rugs, all sizes, new patterns, at Special Prices

Blankets and Comforts

Wool Blankets in white or grey, plaids with pink and blue borders $2.45 up to $5.00 pair.
Comforts—the extra warm kind made of best materials, Silkoline and Satten covered and filled with clean cotton. $1.50 up to $3.00

Window Shades to order

We use only the best material. All Shades mounted on Hartshorn Rollers and installed in first-class manner. All work guaranteed. Call and get prices.

New Silks

We now have ready for your inspection a splendid assortment of new Silks, embracing every new and favored pattern and coloring of the season. Special good value in 36 in. Messaline Silk at $1 yd. New Bulgarian Silk $1.35 up to $1.85 yd

Portieres and Lace Curtains

At a Big Saving
 Tapestry Portieres in red and green colorings, with fringed ends or bordered edge $2.25 to $5.00 pair
 Lace Curtains, all lengths and widths, 50c up to $8 pair

New Art Work

New Cushion Tops and Cords, 25c and 50c each
 New Centre Pieces and Doilies, 10c to 50c
 New Pillow Cases with stamped edge, 50c pr.
 New Huck Towels, reg. size, with stamped edge, 50c ea.
 New Huck Linen Towels, stamped edge, guest size, 30c ea.

Hosiery Department

Ladies' and Children's Hose, all weights in tan, black and white, high special heels and double soles 25c pr.
 Ladies' black, tan, med. weight Hose 15c pr.
 Girls' and Boys' School Hose, good weight 12 1/2c pr.
 Girls' and Boys' extra heavy double knee 15c pr.

GROCERY SPECIALS

Loose Rolled Oats, 6 lbs.	25c	Shredded Wheat, 2 pks.	23c
Steel Cut Oats, 6 lbs.	25c	Med. Red Salmon, 2 cans	25c
Banner Lye, 3 cans	25c	Good Oyster Crackers, 4 lbs.	25c
World Matches, doz. boxes	09c	Fels Naptha Soap, 6 cakes	25c

New Buckwheat Flour New Corn Meal Ralston Wheat Force Malt Breakfast Food

W. E. SLAUGENHOUP

SUCCESSOR TO

Bedford's Biggest

Barnett's Store
 THE HOUSE THAT SAVES YOU MONEY

Best
Store

PRIVATE SALE OF REAL ESTATE

In order to close up the estate of Sarah Griffith, deceased, I will offer the following valuable real estate for private sale: One lot of ground situated near Osterburg, containing one acre and 27 perches, having thereon erected a good seven-room house, well finished inside and out with porches, etc.; frame stable with large wagon shed attached, corn crib and other necessary outbuildings. Never-failing well of soft water with pump under porch roof, excellent cellar, good garden and potato patches; handy to churches and stores, splendid fruit, thorough school facilities, 15 minutes' walk to railroad station; back runs past door to meet all passenger trains; mail route and other conveniences. An ideal home for some one who desires a nice town property with some outlet. For further particulars and price call on or address
 LLOYD T. GRIFFITH,
 Moses Mills, Osterburg, Pa.
 17 Oct. 2t.

HOME FOR SALE—Central corner lot in Bedford; lot 60x105; 6-room frame house; terms reasonable for quick closing of an estate; farmer or business man wishing convenient home had better see me soon. Wm. S. Lysinger, Insurance, Bedford, Pa. Oct. 17-2t.

Insurance Agent ED. BERKHEIMER

Has moved back to Bedford, and will call on all old patrons when their insurance needs renewing.

After the Fall Work is Done
 Why not enter the Lock Haven Normal School October 27th? You can spend seven and a half weeks there for $36.25 if you are over seventeen and intend to teach. The winter term will begin January 5th. Write for catalogue, to Dr. George P. Singer, Principal. Oct. 8-3t. Adv.

Deeds Recorded

Broad Top Railroad Company, by treasurer, to Bedford County Commissioners, tract in Hopewell Township; $6.98
 Bedford County Commissioners to Eliza J. Dodson, tract in Hopewell Township; $2.
 Eliza J. Dodson et al to Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad and Coal Company, tract in Hopewell Township; $35.
 Ella James et al to Frederick J. Bonner, tract in Bedford Township; $2,500.
 W. H. Carney, by administrator, to George E. Smouse, 12 acres in Bedford Township; $350.

J. ROY CESSNA,

He's the Insurance Man
 Ridenour Block
 BEDFORD, - - PA.

Wolfsburg M. E. Charge

J. R. Melroy, Pastor
 Sunday, October 19—Wolfsburg: Sunday School 9:20; preaching and Communion service 10:15 a. m. Trans. Run: Preaching service 3 p. m. Rainsburg: Class meeting 7; preaching service 7:30 p. m.

Sulpaur Springs Reformed Charge

Emmet M. Adair, Minister
 Sunday, October 19—Sunday, October 19—Mann's Choice: Sunday School 9:30 a. m.; Holy Communion and sermon 10:30 a. m.; Young People's meeting 7 p. m.; Teacher Training class 8 p. m.

Presbyterian Churches

Services next Sunday, October 19, as follows: Schellsburg—Sunday School 9:30 a. m.; Communion 10:30 a. m. Mann's Choice—Services 2:30 p. m. Saxton, 7:30 p. m.

Gazette Job Rooms are up-to-date. Call and be convinced.

INDIAN MOTORCYCLES

Few Bargains in 1912 models just assembled at factory from extra parts. All machines magnite ignition. Do not wait if you would be served.

4 h. p. Chain Drive, $162.50
 4 h. p. Belt Drive, $158.75

f. o. b. Factory.
 Write for Catalogue.

H. SOMERS FISCHER
 Agent. Hyndman, Pa.

In writing to advertisers kindly mention the fact that you saw their ad in The Gazette.

Buy your Films for your Camera at Dull's